ROOSEVELT INVADES KANSAS-LANDON IN DETROIT

FINE WELCOME BEING EXTENDED

EN ROUTE IN KANSAS WITH PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT, Oct. 13—Just three weeks away from the final show down, President Roosevelt campaigned through Kansas today, the home state of his Republican opponent.

Kansas Democrats seemed determined to demonstrate to Mr. Roosevelt, by crowds and enthusiasm, that despite all surface indications pointing to Gov. Landon's being safe in his own state they considered Kansas to be fighting ground in this campaign. Some of the more optimistic of them who boarded the presidential special even talked of a Roosevelt victory in Kansas next month. In any event, the Kansas Democrats have by no means surrendered, and they prevailed upon Mr. Roosevelt to make his bid for the nine sunflower electoral votes.

Greeted By Crowds

The president's entry into Kansas was marked by tremendous crowds in the western part of the state. At Garden City last night a crowd of several thousand forced an unscheduled stop and a presidential appearance on the rear platform. At Dodge City, somewhat later, a throng variously estimated from 10,000 to 25,000 eddied for several blocks around the Sante Fe station and gave Mr. Roosevelt a tumultuous welcome.

Today in Wichita tens of thous-

A flivver plastered with Roosevelt signs stalled at a traffic light in East Washington street. The owner tried to coax it to go with a crank. He turned and he fumed, but the flivver seemed grounded to the spot. While the owner stopped for a "breathing spell" a little urchin on the sidewalk called, "Say mister, mebby if you'd cover your car with Landon signs, she'd start!"

Observe Suburban Day On Wednesday

Here's news that isn't new but it is important and interesting. Wednesday, October 14, is Suburban Day in New Castle. More than forty merchants of the city are co-operating in the monthly bargain day which means values and thrift to the housewife who wants to make her dollar do full duty.

Suburban Day is not new to New Castle. For the past year it has been a monthly feature of the merchandising men of the city and its repetition each month is an indication of its popularity and success.

The co-operating merchants are prepared for a big day on Wednesday. Winter garments are now in order and when they can be purchased at the beginning of a season at a price far below the regular price, the answer is a crowd of buyers.

The advertisements in today's paper give you a far better picture of the whole thing than can be set down in a short article. Turn to them now, mark off what you need and then be sure that the price advertised is below what the same article will cost you on Thursday or Friday.

Tomorrow, Wednesday, October 14 is Suburban Day. Thrifty shoppers need no more advice than that.

Alice Longworth Says

(Special To The News)

CINCINNATI, Oct. 13. — The whole world is looking to the newsreels to see what kind of dictator General Franco is going to be. Spain's new national hero is a military man. Contrary to widely held opinion army officers seldom know how to swagger, and so it may be necessary for General Franco to take lessons in that mettlesome art from those dictators who came out of civilian life. The two most conspicuous exemplars of absolutism in the world today were accustomed to such modest work as house painting and socialistic agitating before they began their careers at the top of the heap. Military display and exaggerated military steps appeal strongly to them. But saluting and being saluted are old stuff to General Franco.

Let us hope that the man who takes charge of the wreckage of Spain may turn out to have more wisdom than talent for stage antics. It will take a lot of serious doing to put Spain on her feet.

Attacks Administration Bungling Of Relief In Cleveland Speech

GREETED BY HUGE CROWDS IN OHIO

New "Forgotten Man" Cited By Republican Nominee In Relief Discussion

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

ABOARD LANDON SUNFLOWER SPECIAL, Oct. 13—Centering his spotlight on a new "forgotten man" those millions of Americans who have refused federal relief although entitled to it—Governor Alfred M. Landon today pledged an administration that will furnish real jobs at good wages to every person seeking regular employment.

The Republican nominee, cheered enthusiastically by great crowds throughout Ohio's industrial areas, carried his presidential campaign toward Detroit and the state of Michigan. In the motor capital, he scheduled a luncheon with Henry Ford and his third major address tonight on re-employment of America's 11 million idle unemployed.

Charges Relief Bungling

Speaking to a "rear porch" audience in Sandusky, Ohio, Landon reiterated his Cleveland attack upon the Roosevelt administration's alleged "bungling" of the relief problem. It was there he raised his voice in behalf of the new "forgotten man"—the fellow who refused relief and struggled somehow through four years of depression.

Landon said:

"The present national administration has spent 25 billion dollars of which 7,500,000,000 dollars has been spent for relief. The proof of its failure is that there are still eleven million of our fellow citizens without jobs.

"But there is another aspect to the situation. It is not only the unemployed who must be provided for until they can find real jobs to provide more than adequately for the futures of themselves and their families.

"There are thousands of good Americans fully entitled to it who have refused aid. Somehow they have got along. To those also we

Armistice Day To Be Observed

Veterans Organizations Inaugurate Plans For Celebration Here

CHAIRMAN WILL BE SELECTED

Plans for the annual observance of Armistice Day were inaugurated at an informal meeting last evening in the Legion Home, when plans for the customary celebration here were outlined.

A meeting has been called for next Monday evening at the Legion Home, when a chairman will be selected and committees appointed to make the arrangements for the day.

It is likely that the celebration will be much similar to that of last year, with a parade, and speaking program at the Armistice hour, 11 a. m.

Dave Tobin, the new commander of the Perry S. Gaston Post, who will be inducted into office this evening, announced the appointment of R. L. Boyd, Frank Wood, Clarence S. Jarrett, and Alex Thomas, as the committee to represent the Perry S. Gaston Post, American Legion, and the commanders of the other veteran organizations are expected to name their committees this week, so that a full representation of all veteran organizations will be had at the meeting next week.

McNair Recalls Recent Letter Of Resignation

Astounds Pittsburgh At Noon Today By Revoking Recent Action

COUNCIL IS TAKEN MUCH BY SURPRISE

Stand Of Councilmen On Revocation Is Likely To Be That Of Ignoring Move

(BULLETIN
(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 13.—In the most astounding move of his colorful career, Mayor William Nissley McNair revoked his resignation as mayor of Pittsburgh which had already been accepted by city council.

He sent Gregory Zatkovich, his former city solicitor, to the city clerk's office, shortly after noon today with a terse letter signed by himself as mayor.

The letter read:

"The pesident and members of city council.

"Gentlemen:

I hereby revoke and recall my letter of resignation bearing the date of October 6, 1936, and withdraw same from your further consideration."

Respectfully yours,
William N. McNair,
Mayor."

Zatkovich, who had been fired by Cornelius D. Scully, acting mayor, announced that he still considered himself city solicitor.

City Hall Surprised

The move took city hall by surprise.

Scully, who was advanced from president of city council to acting mayor and whose election was to be formally ratified October 19 indicated he considered the McN ir resignation a closed matter.

The mayor arrived at his decision to revoke the resignation after a conference with Leslie M. Johnston, his city works director, who had been ousted from office this morning by Scully. This apparently had incensed McNair.

Council was expected to table the mayor's request for recall of his resignation indefinitely. After that, the course of events was open to conjecture.

Why He Resigned

Previous to the conference with Johnston, the mayor said calmly:

"I resigned to focus the attention of the public on the impossible situation into which I had been forced.

"I wanted the people to know that the reason the city couldn't function was that council wouldn't give me a city treasurer.

"When I resigned, I was of the opinion that the office would not be vacant until legally declared so by an ordinance of council and that if I desired, I could withdraw my resignation at any time before that was done. I had not decided then whether to do so or not.

"My solicitor, George Zatkovich, came soon after I had resigned and asked me to withdraw it. I told him then I would not withdraw my

The sun comes up just to warm those folks and it sets just to cool them off, and no one ever gets sick they claim, they never heard sneeze or cough. Well maybe they're right when they talk like that, but when everything's said and done old Pennsylvania looks good to me, the weather is fifty one.

PRESIDENT IN HOME STATE OF HIS OPPONENT

ands, drawn from Kansas and the near southwest, will greet the president upon the occasion of his principal speech in the state. This will be at Lawrence Stadium, and Wichita newspapers estimated 150,000 will be in attendance.

To his initial audiences in the western part of Kansas last night, the president talked of the drought and what the federal government has been doing to alleviate its effects and forestall future ravages. Also, he complimented Kansans on their "increased purchasing power since I was last here."

Four years ago, he said, tourists were going through Kansas in freight cars, and now they are going through in pullmans.

"Purchasing power has been restored," he said. "Wheat is bringing more than a dollar a bushel, not thirty cents."

Has Cost Money

The New Deal, he conceded, has cost money, but he contended that it has been money well spent.

"And let me remind you," he told his Dodge City audience, "that I am making the same kind of a speech here in the west that I do in the east."

There was a roar of laughter and applause when he observed, "I'm a candidate for re-election, so I guess some people would call this a political trip." But he reminded them that even as a candidate he still is president and must perform executive duties. To the obvious disappointment of the crowd, who wanted a long speech, he excused himself on the grounds that two pouches of White House mail demanded his attention. But they cheered lustily when he made the parting observation that "when I come back here during the next four years we will see that things are even better than they are now."

To Visit Kansas Towns

Mr. Roosevelt crossed Kansas from west to east during the absence of Governor Landon, who is busily campaigning the Great Lakes states, where the president will follow him later in the week. He entered Kansas from Colorado, where towns along the Sante Fe—Colorado Spring, Pueblo and Lajunta—turned out unusually large crowds for rear platform appearances. He will leave Kansas tonight at the eastern border, crossing the Missouri river to Kansas City after visiting Florence, Emporia, Olathe and Kansas City, Kans., along the way.

Kansas newspapers along Mr. Roosevelt's route gave him a uniformly cordial warm welcome, although most of them are Republican.

The Wichita Beacon welcomed the president to the state with a front page editorial which said, in part:

"Considerations of partisan politics will be laid aside as the president and the gracious first lady of the land become our welcome guests. President and Mrs. Roosevelt will be extended the hospitality for which the southwest is famous throughout America. The glorious autumn Kansas sun will contribute to the splendor of the event. Kansas, never more beautiful than today, will reach in a beautiful panorama before the presidential eye. President and Mrs. Roosevelt, travelling to Wichita, will have viewed the greatest hard wheat growing region in the world. They will have viewed homesteads to the welfare of which the administration has contributed through its cooperative policies.

"In Kansas all evidences of distress have gone. Happiness here is apparent on every hand. All is well in Kansas."

Speaks At Wichita.

Wichita, Kas., Oct. 13.—President Roosevelt came into the home state of his Republican opponent today and launched the most militant attack he has yet made against the Republican leadership in this campaign, which he accused of trying to spread the gospel of fear among the people.

But the people, he predicted, will on the third of November "refuse to be frightened by fairy tales."

"I know," he said, "that the people of this country have not such short memories. They remember only too well the real fear—the justified fear—felt all over the nation in 1932, to be frightened by this silly false fear which is now being preached.

"The leaders who are trying to do it are the very ones whose blindness to facts and refusal to act caused the real fear and the real danger of national disaster in 1932."

Mr. Roosevelt named no names. He did not even mention the name of Gov. Landon here in his home state. Nor did he wish to discuss, he said, the local affairs of the state of Kansas. But with pointed reference, he expressed the opinion that Kansas hardly could have come through the economic crisis with its celebrated balanced budget had it not been for federal assistance.

Assembled before the president as he spoke was an audience of many thousands, embracing not only Kansans but many from the nearby states of the south and west. It was the largest crowd that has heard Mr. Roosevelt on his western campaign swing, and a friendly crowd, and as if inspired by its size and friendliness, the president struck out vigorously, both in his attack on the opposition and in defense of the New Deal.

resignation at that time. I reserved the liberty to make a further decision later."

And Zatkovich threatened:

"There must be a law suit instituted either by the mayor (McNair) or the present acting mayor (Scully) or by the taxpayers to remove the cloud from the title to the office."

The law on which Zatkovich based his contention the mayor still had the opportunity to withdraw his resignation concerned the passage of the resolution by which council had accepted McNair's resignation. Zatkovich contended such a resolution could not be passed on the day of its introduction and cited the following law in substantiation:

"No ordinance or resolution shall be passed finally on the day of its introduction except in case of public emergency and then only when requested by the mayor and approved by the affirmative vote of all the members of council present."

Zatkovich cited other laws, one of which called for suspension of the rules, another proviso overlooked by council in its haste to accept McNair's resignation.

McNair had resigned because city council refused to approve City Assessor William B. Foster whom he had named as a successor to City Treasurer James P. Kirk, the latter was fired by the mayor.

Zatkovich airily dismissed any doubts that he was not still the city solicitor.

"I still have the keys to my office," he said have an obligation. Regular employment at good wages must be found for them as well."

Tumultous Receptions

Landon launched his invasion of Michigan after receiving tumultuous receptions across Ohio. His final stops in Ohio were Sandusky and Toledo. His first stop in Michigan was Monroe. He left in his wake an Ohio Republican leadership that claimed the state for him in November.

In Cleveland, Landon declared federal relief was a "temporary problem" because American ingenuity could solve it, but that the administration's injection of politics into its operations constituted a "national scandal."

Landon proposed a new five-point federal relief program. It was:

Program Proposed

1. A major reform by returning the administration of relief to the states.

2. Creation of a system of federal "grants-in-aid" to the states conditioned on (a) a fair proportional contribution to the state and local governments, (b) Selection of state administrators on a basis of merit and fitness, and (c) encouragement to those who try to become self-supporting.

3. Creation of an efficient federal employment service for the purpose of taking workers off relief rolls.

4. Undertaking of federal public works only on their merits, with an end to use of relief labor, at relief wages for the construction of such projects.

5. Provision of federal relief funds so long as the need for relief exists

Faces Wildly Cheering Throng

Landon laid down this program before a wildly cheering throng of 17,000 after assailing the administration's present handling of relief as "inexcusable" as "tragic neglect," as "shameless," as a "disgrace" and as being in the "grip of political exploiters."

He jeered the administration itself for not knowing how many persons were unemployed nor how many persons were actually on relief.

Declaring the American people would be "generous" in their treatment of the unemployed, Landon added:

"But liberality is not enough. We have duties that go beyond mere dollars. We have the duty of administering relief so wisely, so sympathetically that human values will not be destroyed. And we have the duty of doing everything within our power to assist real recovery. That means to get real jobs for the unemployed.

Record Of Miserable Failure

"In both of these duties, the present administration has a record of miserable failure.

"Money intended for the relief of human suffering is being diverted to the building up of a shameless political machine. No professions of warm humanity can hide that fact.

"Our hearts go out to those millions of our own people who through no fault of their own have been the victims of this debauchery of relief funds for political purposes.

"But even that is not the worst that has happened under this administration. They may call it reform, they may call it national planning, but the ugly fact is the members of this administration have condemned one-sixth of our people to live in a separate economic world of their own. Isolated from the main stream of our national life, they have been catalogued, registered, regimented and controlled by a federal bureaucracy which promises them no future. All that they can hope for is the bare necessities of life. In this separate world they are deprived of the hope and opportunity that is their birthright.

"Surely it is our imperative duty to help these millions of men and women to free themselves from dependence on government. We must help them win back their independance."

MADRID FORCES OPEN ATTACK ON REBEL ADVANCE

Loyalist troops than ever before had fought at one time, the government ordered a simultaneous advance on the south, southwest, west and northeast fronts, heroically striving to blast the great "C" shaped line with which the rebels have been slowly squeezing Madrid.

In addition to halting the advance of four rebel columns upon the capital, the government intended the offensive also to prevent rebel reinforcements being sent north to Oviedo to relieve besieged Insurgents who, the government asserted, faced final annihilation by the Loyalists.

(Editor's note: A rebel radio broadcast picked up at Rabat, Morocco, today asserted 2,000 government troops had been killed in fighting at Oviedo.)

The government attaches great importance to the capture of Oviedo, being anxious to use troops long engaged there in the battle to save Madrid.

TIN MILL MEN READY FOR ROLE OF HOSTS

person in New Castle and Lawrence county over 12 years of age is invited to go through the giant Shenango Works on Wednesday as the guest of the corporation.

Today, workmen are installing the four batteries of loud speakers that will carry the messages of information to the crowds on Wednesday. Directional guides are being set up and the paths of traffic through the mill are being aligned. Shenango Works is host tomorrow and the romance and mystery of the manufacture of tinplate will be an open book to all those who attend.

Schools To Attend

In order to give all students over 12 years of age an opportunity to attend, the junior and senior high schools will dismiss at 3:30 o'clock Dr. C. C. Green, superintendent of schools, announced today.

"The Community Day of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corporation has a very definite educational value" said Dr. Green. "Here in New Castle is manufactured the tinplate that goes to every corner of the globe and it occure to me that the opportunity for students to see for themselves just how tinplate is made should not be missed. I trust that every student over 12 will avail himself of the opportunity."

Delegates and visitors to the Pennsylvania State Sabbath School Association convention are welcome to visit the plant any time during the hours between 10 in the morning and 6 in the afternoon, General Superintendent Carl E. Crawford said today. Mr. Crawford suggests that as many adults as can, visit the plant in the forenoon or early afternoon in order to get through before the crowd of school pupils come down which will be between 3:30 and 4 o'clock.

The Community Day at Shenango tomorrow is the first of such events staged by the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corporation. The management wants the people of New Castle and Lawrence county to see just what the steps are in the manufacture of tiplate. The mill will be working full in every department and no department will be missed.

Lanes will be established from the entrance to the mill through all the departments. Guide lines will line the way in order to avoid any possibility of accident. Men from the mill will be stationed throughout the mill to answer questions and visitors are urged to ask what ever question they want answered.

Four batteries of loud speakers will be set up and at each microphone will be a trained man who will explain the processes of the various departments of the mill. At the end of the journey the guests will be ushered into a display room where samples of the multitude of uses of tin and black plate will be shown.

Shenango Works is the center of attraction on Wednesday, October 14. Open house is the order of the day and the invitation is extended to everybody who cares to come with the exception of youngsters under 12 years of age and the reason for this prohibition is obvious. Youngsters cannot appreciate the possibility of accident and the management wants to be certain that not the slightest accident occurs all day long.

Visitors are asked to use the Hobart street entrance which is at the west end of the Gardner avenue viaduct. General Superintendent Carl E. Crawford and his employes are the hosts, the people of New Castle and Lawrence county will be the guests and the purpose of the day is to acquaint local citizens with the manufacture of the commodity that means so much to this community, tin plate.

TARIFF TINKERING BY FIAT

ONE of the chief contentions of the critics of the New Deal is that the Brain Trusters have sought to throw out of balance our constitutional system of government which defines the powers between the executive, the legislative and the judicial departments. It is contended that the New Dealers have sought to take authority from the legislative branch of the government and lodge it with the president and his assistants. This, they point out, is always one of the first evidences of impending dictatorship.

Governor Landon in his tariff address at Minneapolis, pointed out the autocratic tendency in tariff making, when he said:

"One more point on the making of these agreements: This is the question whether it was wise for congress to give to the president such sweeping powers. Under our constitution, if these agreements are commercial treaties, they should be ratified by a two-thirds vote of the senate. On the other hand, if they are simply revisions of our tariff laws, they come under the revenue provisions of the constitution. In this case they should be approved by a majority vote of both houses of congress."

The reasoning of the Kansas governor here is quite clear. Either these tariff agreements are commercial treaties or modifications of our tariff. If the former, they should be ratified by two-thirds vote of the senate, and if the latter, by majority vote in both branches of congress.

As a matter of fact neither procedure is entered into. The tariff agreements are drawn up by the agents of the president, in this case, Cordell Hull and his assistants, and are put into effect without any action by congress.

It is true that congress by legislation sought to give this tariff and treaty making to the president. But congress has no right to surrender to the chief executive powers which are conferred upon it by the constitution. This is not theory, it is law—good law expounded by the supreme court of the United States.

Taking power from the legislative branch of the government and conferring it upon the executive department is not sound democratic procedure, even if the legislative branch itself concurs in such practice. There is no authority for congress to set aside the constitution for its own purposes. Constitutional provisions are for the protection of the people. Centering power in executive hands is a sure indication of the approach of autocracy.

Governor Landon, in his speech, expressed doubts as to the wisdom of congress in abrogating its tariff making powers. There is doubt not only as to the wisdom but as to the constitutionality of such action.

A SYMBOL OF HOPE

Since 1923, on the anniversary of the birthday of Theodore Roosevelt, medals have been awarded to Americans who have rendered "distinguished public service" in those fields of activity which were nearest to the late president's heart. These are listed as seven, yet the awards to be made on October 27 almost require a new classification.

For the first time two of the medals will be given for "a co-operative achievement." Miss Helen Keller and her teacher, Mrs. Anne Sullivan Macy, are to be honored for "one of the most notable instances in history of the triumph of the mind and spirit over bodily afflictions."

The achievement of Miss Keller and her friend and teacher, says the president of the Roosevelt Memorial Association, has become for many men and women "a symbol of hope and an inspiration to effort." Every successful life, in some degree, is a triumph of the spirit over handicaps and limitations. Few of us, fortunately, need make our way in a sightless and soundless world, yet it has been shown that it can be done. Because it has been done, millions may bear their own burdens and fight their own battles with better hope and courage.

WHAT THE MOTORIST PAID

At the National Safety Conference at Atlantic City John F. Anderson told his audience that the "motorist's willingness to pay a fair tax for the privilege of driving an automobile over good highways has been used as an excuse to make the motorist the nation's tax goat." When he said that, Mr. Anderson probably had not seen the report on internal revenue collections for the fiscal year of 1936, just issued by the United States Treasury Department suggests the New York Sun. If he had he might have made his remarks even stronger.

In the fiscal year ending on June 30 last American motorists contributed to the federal treasury through the taxes levied on lubricating oil, gasoline, tires, inner tubes, accessories, automobiles, trucks and motorcycles a total of more than $297,000,000.

These special taxes, which fell on motorists alone, did not exempt them from the payment of other federal taxes. If they were within the income tax brackets they contributed to the total of $674,000,000 in individual income tax yield; the fact is, however, that only one passenger car owner in ten pays a federal income tax. Those of them that smoked contributed to the $501,000,000 brought in by the tobacco taxes. Those who took an occasional glass of beer or a toddy helped to make the yield of the liquor taxes $505,000,000. The motorist who is also a bridge or pinochle player contributed to the $4,000,000 yielded by the tax on playing cards. If the automobile owner had electricity in his home and garage, he had a share in the $33,000,000 brought in by the tax on electrical energy. If he had a telephone or sent a telegram, he paid taxes which went to help make up the total of $19,000,000. If he went to the theater, a night club, a boxing contest or a roof for the evening he paid the federal tax on admissions; the total yield of the tax last year was $17,000,000. If he or members of his family bought perfumes, cosmetics, tooth paste, furs, jewelry, a radio, a refrigerator or sporting goods, a contribution was made to the total yield of $45,000,000 from these excise taxes.

Goat or no goat, the motorist can well say that he has contributed his share and more to the federal treasury.

For its years, an infant has a much sturdier grip than an adult, a biologist says. Posterity will need it, when the tax collector calls.

EUROPE KNOWS what airplanes will mean when war starts. Look from your window almost anywhere in Italy, or down from the beautiful terrace back of the cathedral of Chartres in France, or from your plane anywhere in Germany, you see an airport.

Mussolini has just started 1,000 workers, who will be busy more than a year, building another military airport, to be one of the biggest in the world, room for 300 planes and 1,000 fliers at Jesi, 20 miles back from the Adriatic coast.

This new airport is supposed to be aimed at Yugoslavia; the great French air base near Mont St. Michel is surely aimed at London, because it could not be aimed at anything else; sooner or later trouble must start; then crumbling cities.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

NOT A COMMUNIST

There have been so many serious strikes of truckmen in this country that there is a disposition on the part of the citizens to look upon every truckman as a "Rough Neck," and a man who pays no attention to the rights of others and these men, as a class, have been carelessly called Communists.

They are not Communists. There may be among them a few of that stripe, but I believe from an experience I had on the Redwood Highway in California, that among them there are a great many fine chaps.

I had drawn off the road one evening to adjust the radio in my car to listen to a Speech by Mr Landon. As I stopped the car, the front wheel slid into a hidden ditch, and permitted the car to settle with the tonneau on the ground. I had just filled my tank with gasoline and noticed that the gasoline was trickling out, so that it would have been plain suicide for me to try and back out of the ditch.

I then noticed a truck coming down the road and I signaled it to stop. I did not expect it to stop, but it did. It was a Standard Oil Truck. The chap came over to me and said, "I see you are in trouble. Have you a towrope?"

I had no towrope and as he looked down the road he saw some loggers who were fixing their truck. "I know those chaps have a chain," he said. "I will get it."

He walks down the road about three hundred yards and brings back on his arm a heavy chain, with which he pulled my car out on the road, with no harm done to the car.

I asked this truck driver, "How much?"

"Nothing, sir. This is Standard service."

I could not persuade this truck driver to accept anything.

When there are such red-blooded men in America, I believe America need not fear very much Communistic rule.

CADDIE WITH DISCARD CLUBS

The caddie with discarded clubs
Makes a mockery of all the dubs.

The driver that I couldn't use
Sped straight the ball upon its way,
And in my pair of outworn shoes
He shot a seventy-three today.

Once in a fit of temper vile
I threw that mid-iron from my bag,
And now the boy in perfect style
Is dropping "seconds" near the flag.

I watch him as he passes by,
Proud of the clubs I tossed aside,
But he has something more than I
To justify possession's pride.

With clubs which angrily I blamed
The caddie scored a seventy-three
I think I ought to be ashamed—
Plainly the fault belonged me me.

The caddie with discarded clubs,
Makes mockery of all the dubs.

HOW DIVORCES HAVE INCREASED

Forty years ago divorce in a family was looked upon more or less as a disgrace. Today it is generally conceded to be about the best thing to get when two discover they cannot agree. This changed attitude has of course helped to increase our divorce rate. Another major factor in increasing the divorce rate is the fact that marriage is not the solemn contract it used to be and is more lightly entered upon. These changes have greatly helped along the almost threefold "casualty" rate. In 1895 there were only six divorces to each 100 marriages. Today and for the past six years or more the rate has been 16 or more divorces for every 100 marriages.

Good Taste

By FRANCINE MARKEL

By FRANCINE MARKEL

DEAR Miss Markel: Please tell me the correct method of seating guests at dinner.—A. C.

Answer: The host should sit at one end—the foot of the table; the hostess at the opposite end—the head. The seat at the host's right is always given to his dinner partner—the woman guest of honor, if there is one. The seat at his left should be reserved for the woman second in honor.

The man guest of honor should be seated at the hostess' right, the second in honor at her left. The other men and women should be seated in alternate places, never allowing two men, nor two women to sit side by side, unless an uneven number of guests makes this unavoidable. Do not place a husband and wife together, although engaged couples are sometmes thus seated.

Tact should be used in seating guests. Congenial people should be grouped together. Uncongenial people should be separated at table, or, better still, not invited to the same party.

The third woman should sit at the right of the man of highest rank. The fourth at the left of the man of second rank. The lowest in rank should be seated nearest the center.

Sometimes, in order to prevent seating two women and two men together, it is necessary for the hostess to relinquish her seat at the head of the table and give this place to the man of honor, she taking the place at his left.

The World At A Glance

Third Party Beat Democrats. Campaign Of "Forty-Eight" Split Over Slavery Question.

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

THIRD PARTIES have been no unusual occurence in American election campaigns. They have, in fact, determined a number of elections—and the presidential election of 1848 was one. Slavery already had become an issue then, and the Free Soilers, in opposition to the extension of slavery, damaged both the Democrats and the Whigs. The Democrats lost the presidency to the Whigs and the Whigs lost their majority in the house of representatives. The Free Soilers, therefore, became the balance of power in 1849 — even though their existence as a party was to be brief.

We must sketch briefly some major events during the term of President James K. Polk, Democrat (1845-49) to understand the significance of that campaign. During those eventful years, the United States went to war with Mexico, gained vast new territories, and raised to an increasing fever heat the controversy over the extension of slavery. This was the minor prelude to the major tragedy—the Civil war.

OREGON—THEN TEXAS

President Polk's term began with passionate outcries of expansionists over boundary disputes.

There was Oregon, first. A Democratic campaign cry had been: "Fifty-four forty or fight"—and to fight meant to fight Great Britain. The American settlers desired the territory clear up to Russia's claim—Alaska. Great Britain claimed as far down as the Columbia river. There was no fighting, despite the warlike outcry in the United States. A settlement was made which continued the line of the forty-ninth degree of north latitude to the Georgian straits.

That was easy in comparison with what was to occur in regard to Texas—now a state. There, the war cry was to win.

The expansive claims of the Texans seem absurd in this day.

President Polk supported those claims. More, he ordered General Zachary Taylor to move into the disputed zone. The Americans asserted it was an act of defense. The Mexicans asserted it was an invasion of their country.

WAR

Although Polk had ordered troops into the disputed region without consulting congress, he was given funds for "defense".

After the Mexicans had ambushed a small body of American dragoons on April 23, 1846, the president told congress that "war exists, and exists by the act of Mexico itself."

Abraham Lincoln, then in congress (his first and only term) spoke against war, and was defeated for re-election. Several senators also opposed it with vigor.

A formal declaration of war was resolved, however, on May 1, 1846. Then General Taylor began fighting his way toward the Mexican capital.

Taylor, a Whig, threatened to become such a popular general that President Polk feared (rightly, too) that the Whigs would offer him as a presidential candidate. General Winfield Scott, the ranking officer of the army, was sent to the south of Mexico, to take chief command. General Taylor's army was reduced, his men being shipped to Vera Cruz to join Scott's forces.

General Scott laid siege to Vera Cruz, captured it, and finally gained Mexico City itself six months later (Sept. 15, 1847).

MORE LAND

But now the land desired was far beyond that originally contemplated.

Settlers in California demanded that this vast region also be broken away from Mexico.

President Polk seemed sympathetic. He even encouraged a revolt in California against Spain.

In 1846-47, with the aid of a naval fleet, the United States took over the California territory — 600,000 square miles.

The war — which many American historians deplore in no uncertain terms—was closed formally by a treaty signed on Feb. 2, 1848. Mexico recognized the Rio Grande as the southwestern boundary line of Today's Yesterdays—Oct. 13, 1774—In Carlisle, Pa., the wife of John George Ludwig, an impoverished immigrant from the Palintine, gave birth to a daughter who was to be a drudge all her life, and a heroine for a day. They named her Molly Ludwig. History knows her as "Molly Pitcher."

She was 33 and eight years married to John Hays, a barber, when the battle of Monmouth was fought. She had followed her husband, a gunner in Proctor's First Pennsylvania Artillery, Continental Line, into the field. It was a common thing in those days for a wife to accompany her husband to war, to do his cooking and laundering.

Many histories say that John Hays was killed at his gun in the battle and that Molly took his place. Actually, Hays was overcome with the heat—the mercury being 96 in the shade. Molly had kept the gun itself from overheating by rushing water from a nearby brook and pouring it over the sizzling iron. When her husband fell, she took his place and manned it so capably that Gen. Green took note and commended her to Gen. Washington, who made her a sergeant. As such she remained in the army eight years with her husband.

Molly was not the only woman who ever served in the ranks of the army. Women have served in every war in which the U. S. has participated.

Oct. 13, 1812—1,000 invading Americans under Col. Solomon Van Rensselaer were defeated and forced to surrender by Canadians at Queenstown, Ontario, while 1,000 reenforcements stood idly at Lewiston, N. Y., refusing to aid them because, they said, their enlistment did not require them to leave the country!

Oct. 13 in State Histories—1776: Congress named the first Naval Affairs Committee and gave it power to arrange for construction and operation of ships. . . 1792—George Washington laid the cornerstone of the first public building in the city named for him, the future White House. The site was selected by a Frenchman, and the building designed by an Irishman who modeled it after the palace of the Duke of Leinster. . . 1935: Earthquakes, the first of 550 which struck Helena, Mont., in October, killed two and made 200 homes uninhabitable. Two schools were destroyed.

SEAL SALE OPENS THANKSGIVING DAY

Announcement is made by the Lawrence County Anti-Tuberculosis Society, of the appointment of A. Bruce Ewing, W. Herbert Smith, and Joseph R. McFate, as chairmen of the annual Christmas Seal Sale, which will open in the county on Thanksgiving Day, and will last until Christmas.

During this time, the residents of the county will be given an opportunity to purchase the handsome little seals, which will be attached to thousands of letters going out of the city, aiding in combatting the ravages of tuberculosis, which each year, has shown an increase because of the funds provided through the sale of these seals.

The above named chairmen are now mapping plans for the annual sale here and expect to have seals in the hands of most of the residents of the community on the opening day of the campaign.

AROUND CITY HALL

Councilman Joseph D. Alexander, in response to a question put to him by Mayor Charles E. McGrath Monday in city hall, said he was preparing specifications for the coal the city will use this fall and winter. Asked by Councilman James L. Fink if the school board's specifications would not be satisfactory, Alexander replied that whatever information he received from that body plus the knowledge he would gain would put the city in a better position to know what kind of coal to buy. Seven hundred tons more or less will be bought.

Mayor Charles E. McGrath believes that buying 500 gallon lots is not good business if tanks are over-filled and evaporation is counted. Bids will be taken and contingent upon the price offered depends whether or not the city will continue to buy in big lots.

For the first time during a councilmanic session here a public address system was employed yesterday by the city clerk. Earl Wimer, controller, informed council yesterday that due to the make-up of the new budget plan the street department is shown as having overrun its appropriations. He suggested a transfer of funds from that bureau to the department of streets, which no doubt will be done.

Council was informed by Councilman Joseph D. Alexander that he had received a bill for $92.00 for repairs to an old truck, which was ordered paid. Councilman B. F. Butler said that it is not good business to spend money for worn out machinery and said the truck which was repaired has had a long life with the city. He said also that, in his opinion when machinery is worn out it is more economical to buy new equipment than to keep repairing old equipment.

CHANCELLOR HITLER determined to make Germany independent of the outside world, is sending to America bakers, tobacconists, dairymen, representatives of the milk preserving industry and barbers to study United States methods and results.

That is wise; but it would be even wiser to send half a dozen intelligent Germans, free from race prejudice, to study the results of tolerance in the United Stattes and the benefits to commerce and industry due to the energy and intelligence of Americans of Jewish descent.

IN THE Philippines, a 21-year-old wife, Mrs. Leoncio Englo, living in a small hut at Maragondon in Cavite Province, gives birth to four little girls, weighing three pounds each, "doing nicely".

This might interest opponents of birth control, not that birth control could have done anything about the number of little girls. The father, 21 years old, was doing well, as things go in the Philippines, working on the road for 40 cents a day.

Unfortunately he lost his job as the quadruplets arrived. He has two other children and six on nothing a day, are a good many.

EUROPEAN nations are preparing to recognize the Spanish rebels "when they take Madrid and set up a national government."

The idea is to take prompt action and forestall the victorious insurgents giving Spanish territory to Italy or Germany; the Balearic Islands to Italy for instance, to use as naval and air bases with Ceuta for Germany. This would upset the balance of the power in Western Mediterranean and disturb old England, with Egypt and the Suez Canal on her mind.

However, it may all be a case of "counting chickens before they are hatched."

IT WOULD make some of our light-hearted geniuses in Washington smile to see how seriously England takes the danger of airplane gas bombardment.

The British have actually ordered and are distributing as rapidly as possible, forty million gas masks, one for every man, woman and child in Britain. London announces the first "gas-proof office building" Here we are satisfied with "air conditioning." England thinks about "war conditioning."

A little of that thought would be useful in Washington, after the present worry about getting into office or remaining in office, shall have died away for four years more.

QUICK! STOP THAT COLD
IN THE DRY OR FIRST STAGE!

A cold ordinarily goes through three stages:

The Dry Stage, the first 24 hours; the Watery Secretion Stage, from 1 to 3 days; and the Mucous Secretion Stage.

A cold is twice as easily stopped in the first as in the second or third stages. In fact, to let a cold run beyond the first stage is inviting trouble.

Expressly for Colds!

As your doctor will tell you, there is nothing better you can take for a cold than Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine.

It is expressly a cold tablet and not a "cure-all". It is internal treatment which a cold requires. It does four important things.

First, it opens the bowels. Second, it checks the infection in the system. Third, it relieves the headache and fever. Fourth, it tones the system and helps fortify against further attack.

That's the fourfold treatment you want and in Bromo Quinine you get it in the form of a single tablet.

Bromo Quinine tablets now come sugar-coated as well as plain. The sugar-coated are exactly the same as the regular, except that the tablets are coated with sugar for palatability.

Don't Delay!

When a cold threatens, don't compromise, don't delay. Go right to your druggist for a package of Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine.

Start taking the tablets immediately, two every four hours. Used promptly, Bromo Quinine will usually break up a cold in 24 hours.

Ask your druggist firmly for Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine tablets and don't be talked into accepting a substitute.

The few pennies' cost may save you much worry and much expense.

SLAVERY QUESTION

Abolitionists were fearful over the addition of such large territory unless the question of slavery were settled in regard to it.

At the beginning of the war, Representative David Wilmot of Pennsylvania, a Democrat, had offered a proviso to the war appropriation bill declaring that neither slavery nor involutary servitude should be permitted in any territory that might be acquired from Mexico. This proviso did not pass. Some settlement was necessary, for the Missouri compromise did not run beyond the western boundary of the Louisiana Purchase.

The Whigs, gaining control of the house in mid-term, insisted upon the proviso of Wilmot, the northern Democrat, while the Democrats, controlling the senate, opposed it.

Even a constitution for Oregon could not be agreed upon until August, 1848. A deadlock remained concerning California and New Mexico.

The Democrats began advocating that slavery be decided by the states themselves, not by congress. That aroused the north. And out of this dissension there arose the Free Soilers. Uniting with them, was a strong faction of New York Democrats, who deserted the regular Democrats.

DEMOCRATS LOSE

President Polk was one war executive who turned out to be no popular hero. The Democrats did not even renominate him. They turned, instead, to Lewis Cass of Michigan, a quiet liberal. The Whigs, true to prophecy, chose Gen. Zachary Taylor, and decided on another no - declaration-of-principles' campaign. Millard Fillmore of New York, was given the vice presidential nomination.

Dissident Democrats from four states nominated former President Martin Van Buren of New York—a strong antagonist of slavery. Free Soilers from 18 states also nominated Van Buren.

Van Buren piled up 300,000 votes, taken from both parties, but succeeded merely in defeating Cass, the regular Democratic nominee.

The split in the Democratic vote was fatal to the party. Cass could have won if the New York Democrats had remained intact. As it was, New York's 36 electoral votes went to General Taylor and gave him a majority of 36 votes in the electoral college.

PROTECTING a $40 JOB

MODERN women no longer give in to periodic pain. It's old-fashioned to suffer in silence, because there is now a reliable remedy for such suffering.

Some women who have always had the hardest time are relieved by Midol.

Many who use Midol do not feel one twinge of pain, or even a moment's discomfort during the entire period.

Don't let the calendar regulate your activities! Don't "favor yourself" or "save yourself" certain days of every month! Keep going, and keep comfortable — with the aid of Midol. These tablets provide a proven means for the relief of such pain, so why endure suffering Midol might spare you?

Midol's relief is so swift, you may think it is a narcotic. It's not. And its relief is prolonged; two tablets see you through your worst day.

You can get Midol in a trim little aluminum case at any drug store. Then you may enjoy a new freedom!

Movie Star Had Fractured Skull

Claudette Colbert Is Reported On Way To Recovery, Was In Motor Crash

By HARRISON CARROLL
(Copyright, 1936, by International News Service)

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Oct. 13.—Behind the laconic announcement that Claudette Colbert will be away from the set for another week is a reason that Hollywood never suspected until today.

The star has been suffering from a basal skull fracture.

Admission of the serious nature of the injury was made today by those close to Miss Colbert, although they declared she is now out of all danger and is recuperating rapidly.

Fractured Skull.

At the time of the motor accident in which a car crashed into her standing machine, Miss Colbert thought she had escaped with a bad bump on her head, her intimates revealed.

Her collapse on the "Maid of Salem" set the next day was the first indication of more serious injury. Specialists were summoned, and it was then that the star was discovered to be suffering from a basal skull fracture.

According to attending physicians, delayed symptoms are common in cases of the sort.

But, Mr. President, most of us would feel like economic royalists if we had half of your roll.

GIRL REPORTER'S PLANE FORCED DOWN

against the central Chinese government, was our first objective.

Dawn found us sailing serenely northward....over French Indo-Chinese jungles, where tigers and great constrictor snakes lie in wait for little girls.

But when the semi-tropical sun rose high in the heavens, the Siamese pilot began to show signs of worry. He looked first over one side of the cock-pit, then the other. No Taiping!

For an hour and a half he looked, circling and re-circling, losing valuable minutes, while I thought of the President Pierce, steam up, ready to sail from Hongkong.

Finally the pilot shrugged his shoulders in oriental despair, and nosed down for a landing....while thoughts of bandits, kidnapings, murders, and revolutions sizzled in my head.

Forced To Land

Bump! bump! splash! we thumped down jarringly in the middle of a rice field. The plane was not damaged—but in a second I thought all of my worse fears about Kwangsi Province were realized.

Appearing like gnomes from the ground, about 600 chattering natives, nearly naked, surrounded the plane. They spoke no English of course, and could not understand Siamese.

We waved our arms, made signs with our fingers, played "handies," and finally made them understand that we were lost. In half an hour of this game, we were finally directed to Fort Bayard. What a sensible sound that had in this oriental bedlam!

So after a take-off that I thought would wreck the plane, we arrived at Fort Bayard, an English settlement on the edge of the China Sea, two hours behind time.

We found Hongkong all right—but naturally were two hours late there also. We landed at the Royal Air Force Field at Kaitak, Honkkong Island, at 4:45 p. m. (3:45 a. m. EST.)

Imagine my surprise to find a large crowd waiting there for me and my pleasure at realizing these strangers were actually worried about the tardiness of an American they had never seen before.

No Time For Pleasantries

But I had no time for pleasantries. I said goodbye to my Siamese pilot (mumbling to myself: "Thank goodness you're not twins:) and scrambled off on the shortest and wildest leg of this world-dash—across Hongkong to the President Pierce.

Natives flew out of the way like chickens, Jinrickshaws cleared aside as though our car were preceded by a magic ray. We nearly hit a dozen street stalls. And in our wake there closed a staring, wild-eyed stream of Chinese, clamoring their protests in a tone that made me glad I don't understand the language.

In a twinkling I was under the American flag again, on the Dollar liner, for the first time since I left New York, September 30. Like a baseball pitcher's change of pace the hurry and the bustle was over—but this, the slowest part of the journey—is the most important.

Leo Kieran is also aboard the President Pierce. He came up an hour ahead of me in the first section of the two-plane aerial train from Bangkok.

Hope Clipper Is Delayed

Now, if the same winds that delayed the Hawaii Clipper, holding her in Manila for H. R. Ekins—just keeps here there a day longer, there'll be new life in this race.

Since I did have to make one forced landing on this long trip—I'm glad it came just after, and not before, we emerged from the tangled green carpet of the Siamese and Indo-Chinese jungle.

Hanoi, the overnight stop from Bangkok to Hongklong, provided one thrill. I was almost arrested! What an end that would have been to a 'round-the-world race!

A French-speaking native policeman took me to the station for not having proper indentification papers, but the police commissioner had heard that some girl was flying around the world, so he let me off.

"Are you English?" he asked me, using that tongue brokenly. When I told him I was American, he answered flatteringly:

"Of course....What else could you be....with such courage?"

"Why Our W. C. T. U. Did Not Disband—By Mrs. Emma McCracken and Mrs. Mary Young.

Paper by Mrs. Nancy Blair.

The business session was conducted by the president, Mrs. Hazel McClymonds. The officers for the coming year were installed.

During the social hour a delicious lunch was served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Hazel McCracken, Mrs. Nancy Blair, Margaret Louise and Glenna Mae McCracken. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. T. C. West, with Mrs. Venetta Kildoo as leader.

History shows that only a few candidates were considered big enough for the Presidency, and they dwindled after they got in.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13—Probably more money is wasted hurling unnecessary "press parties" every year in New York than the combined efforts of the WPA, the racket czars, the theatrical "angels" and the town's goodtime Charlies are able to dispose of in the same period.

Press agents foster the superstition that as soon as they get hold of an account for a flock of movie stars or a brand of lip smear they must shell out for a large fiesta in one of the swank hotels, to which numbers of newspapermen and reciprocal press agents are summoned. Of course the movie company, or the manufacturer of the lip smear foots the bill.

The theory is that the scribes, invited to these jamborees and plied with watery cocktails by waiters, dressed like footmen who follow the Crown carriage are likely to return to the office and pound out eulogies on the stars or slip mention of the cosmetic brand into their effusions.

But what actually happens? The slaves of the state Mr. Mergenthaler's contraption either consume so many of the watery cocktails that they cannot remember by whom or for whom the party was tossed, or else they get the worst possible slant on the glamor gals and glorified hams who are in process of being ballyhooed.

For more often than not the famous ones are commanded by their employers to cancel all engagements and attend the press party. Sometimes it is necessary to put them through a Turkish bath and a winger before they are able to meet the ladies and gentlemen of the press; in which case their nerves are jumpy their eyes look like an illustration in a book by Sir James Jeans and they make the worst possible impression on their potential Boswells.

Movie stars in New York are usually here on holiday. They do not like to abandon their bridge parties, their heavy dates or their matinees at Minskys to be polite to a bunch of city room mugs. On two or three occasions they have even been indulging the first opportunity in months to read a book but they must turn down the page and hustle off to the Perroquet Suite to answer questions about their lost lives. If they are cross and full of tantrums and so make a bad impression they can scarcely be blamed.

As a former longtime regular at these gettogethers I can say honestly that I never heard of one that did any actual good to the sponsors commensurate with the outlay for caviar, booze and aspirin. Furthermore, nothing of any consequence is ever elicited from the flickerines and flickeromeos of these parties.

The guests sit around as a rule, at tables in the big, lushy-carpeted rooms. Waiters circulate with trays of hor d'oeuvres and drinks. The honored luminaries are dragged about from group to group and during each pause a colloquy so stereotyped it might be written ahead of time occurs.

"Mr. Zilch" says the press agent, "I want you to meet Mr. X. of the Evening Bugle, Mr. Z., of the Morning Banner and Miss Q who writes those charming pieces for Screen Hearts Magazine. The gentleman asleep is Mr. Aswell, whose stuff is syndicated to 250,000 papers through out the world."

"Pardon me," says the star. "I didn't catch the name of that last gent."

Mr. X. asks brightly: "How do you like New York?"

"Fine, but you know I don't get around much to the night clubs—just a quiet little visit," says the Star, who left the Stork Club at 4:03 this morning.

M. Z. demands: "What do you plan to do next?"

"I really don't know. I am reading scripts now day and night but I can't make up my mind between Huxley's 'Eyeless in Gaza' and the new Noel Coward play."

Actually, of course, the Star has no say whatever about his pictures and he won't know that the title is to be "Office Wife's Secretary's Husband until the film is finished, cut and in the cans.

"Who is your favorite actress?" smirks Miss Q.

"Oh, I think they're all perfectly charming."

That, repeated thirty or forty times is what the studio is paying $800 for.

AMERICA'S NO. 1 TEST PILOT

stands terrific strain in his meteoric power-dives and blinding pull-outs, as planes disintegrate in mid-sky!

THE TEST DIVE! Straight down from 4 miles up—motor roaring—struts screaming—Gehlbach tears earthward like a bullet flashing from a revolver. Anything can happen. A bump in the air—a tiny flaw, and the plane can fly to pieces as though dynamited while the pilot takes to his parachute. But Lee Gehlbach eats heartily and enjoys his food. Note the Camel cigarette in his hand—one of many he enjoys during and after meals.

"SMOKING CAMELS KEEPS MY DIGESTION TUNED UP AND RUNNING SMOOTH"—SAYS LEE

"CAMELS set me right!" Gehlbach says. "You know, chance is only 10% of my business. Keeping alert and in fine condition is the other 90%. I smoke Camels with my meals, and afterward, for digestion's sake. And when I say that Camels don't get on my nerves, it means a lot."

Good digestion and healthy nerves are important for everyone in this wide-awake era. So make Camel your cigarette. Enjoying Camels at mealtime and after speeds up the flow of digestive fluids—increases alkalinity—helps bring a sense of well-being. Smoke Camels—for digestion's sake—for their refreshing "lift." Camels set you right! And they do not get on your nerves.

Allot $775 To Hire Extra P. O. Help For Christmas Rush

Funds Provided To Aid In Handling Holiday Mail In New Castle

(Special To The News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 13.—The New Castle postmaster has been allotted $775.28 to hire extra help to assist in handling the Christmas rush this year, it was learned at the post office department today.

This sum will provide approximately 100 man-hours of extra work at the New Castle post office during the 10-day period of Christmas rush, postal officials figure. The allotment is based on the New Castle postmaster's own estimate of the amount of additional help he will need this year, it was said.

The money will be used mainly to hire extra clerks and carriers, but additional laborers, if necessary above the regular quarterly allotment, will also be paid from this fund.

Substitutes now listed at the New Castle post office are expected to be given preference, but the question is entirely up to the postmaster, officials said. By a rule of long standing, no one above 45 years of age is to be employed for the Christmas work, however.

Christmas allotments to post offices this year are in most cases considerably larger than similar allotments made last year, indicating that increased business is expected this Christmas, it was said at the post office department.

Jobless Insurance Law Is Discussed At Rotary Monday

Sharon High Teacher Reviews Provisions In Explanatory Address

Declaring that unemployment insurance is "a businessman's problem," Harry C. Thompson, Sharon high school instructor, called upon all business leaders to actively interest themselves in a study of the problem when he spoke yesterday before the Rotary club at The Castleton.

Mr. Thompson, a teacher of civics and a student of unemployment insurance legislation, described to the Rotarians the general provisions of the new national unemployment insurance act and the recently enacted New York unemployment insurance law.

He pointed out that as yet Pennsylvania has adopted no state law to operate along the national law.

"I'm here merely to explain the law," said Mr. Thompson, "and to stir you men to action. This is a businessman's problem—your problem."

"If you don't like it, it's up to businessmen to see that the national law is repealed. If you do like it, it's up to you to see that Pennsylvania soon adopts a law which will permit the state to take advantage of the national act."

Pointing out that the national act "is now a law of the land," Mr. Thompson went on to explain that effective early in 1937 every employer of eight or more employes must pay to the national government a yearly tax of one per cent on his payroll. The following year that tax will be two per cent and the next, three per cent.

In an informal question period at the close the speaker answered as many questions as possible. It was brought out in the discussion that the national unemployment insurance act is at present being reviewed by the supreme court.

Rotarian Frederick Taylor introduced Mr. Thompson.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

WHY CHILD MAY FAIL

MANY A CHILD can spell all his words at home, orally or written, and do all his simple sums in arithmetic without error, but will do poorly or fail in a test on them at school the very next day, or even the same day.

Many teachers have heard parents tell of such children, but listen doubtfully, or have said it could not happen. I have read scores of such reports from parents and do believe them. I found this very thing happening to two of my own children on a number of occasions.

The phenomenon is not hard to understand in the light of the disastrous effect of inhibiting and distracting emotions in the classroom. The speed at which the child must work at the test is usually much greater than that under which he worked at home. His fear of not keeping up, difficulty of writing fast enough, and inability to attend, under the distractions, to the words pronounced or the other task at hand, can cut up all sorts of capers with his work at school.

Here is a sample letter from a mother:

"I have a boy nine years old, in the third grade, and he passes all his subjects but arithmetic. I try to help him at home, but when I give him examples to do he gets them right. I spoke to the teacher and she said he really knows the work, but is of a nervous temperament, and when it comes to a test he can't control himself long enough to concentrate throughout the test. His arithmetic consists of addition, subtraction and multiplication. He understands the method thoroughly, and knows all the number combinations on the flash cards."

Hard To Answer

I found it difficult to answer this mother. I pointed out to her that it was possible that he still counted as he answered some of his number combinations, that if he did so he would be greatly handicapped in any test; that she could find out if he did by asking to say what went on in his mind when he looked at a combination, in case he paused for an answer, that if he did count she could help him by having him memorize those combinations which give him trouble.

But I wish I might prevail upon teachers not to give speed tests at school, and when they pronounce words to be spelled to go about half as fast as they generally do. I am sure the final results in the child's learning would be much better. Besides, see what emotional agonies he would escape!

Columbus Day Is Celebrated

Large Crowd Shares Program Presented By Christopher Columbus Society

Success was written after the twenty-third Columbus Day celebration held in Mahoningtown, on Monday evening, by members of the Christopher Columbus society. The affair was attended by approximately 500 persons who shared in a most enjoyable program.

At 5 o'clock a parade marked the opening of the event. Members of the Immaculate Conception Sodality, St. Margaret's society and Christopher Columbus society participated in the parade which was colorful.

Heroic Animals Will Get Medals

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Fidelity and heroism of three dogs, a cat and an extraordinary parrot were rewarded today with the "Always True Hearted" recognition of the New York Anti-vivisection Society.

To each of the pets, the society announced, will go the society's silver medal inscribed with the "True Hearted" citation for faithfulness and courage.

Especially noteworthy among the award recipients is the parrot, Polly, the pet of Mrs. W. E. Green, Evanston, Ill.

Overcome by gas fumes in her home, the citation said, Mrs. Green struggled to a telephone and lifted the receiver but lost consciousness after one cry for help.

"Polly, who was in the room, flew to the telephone," the society announced, "and repeated her mistress' cry for help. Police responded and revived Mrs. Green."

Medal For Dog

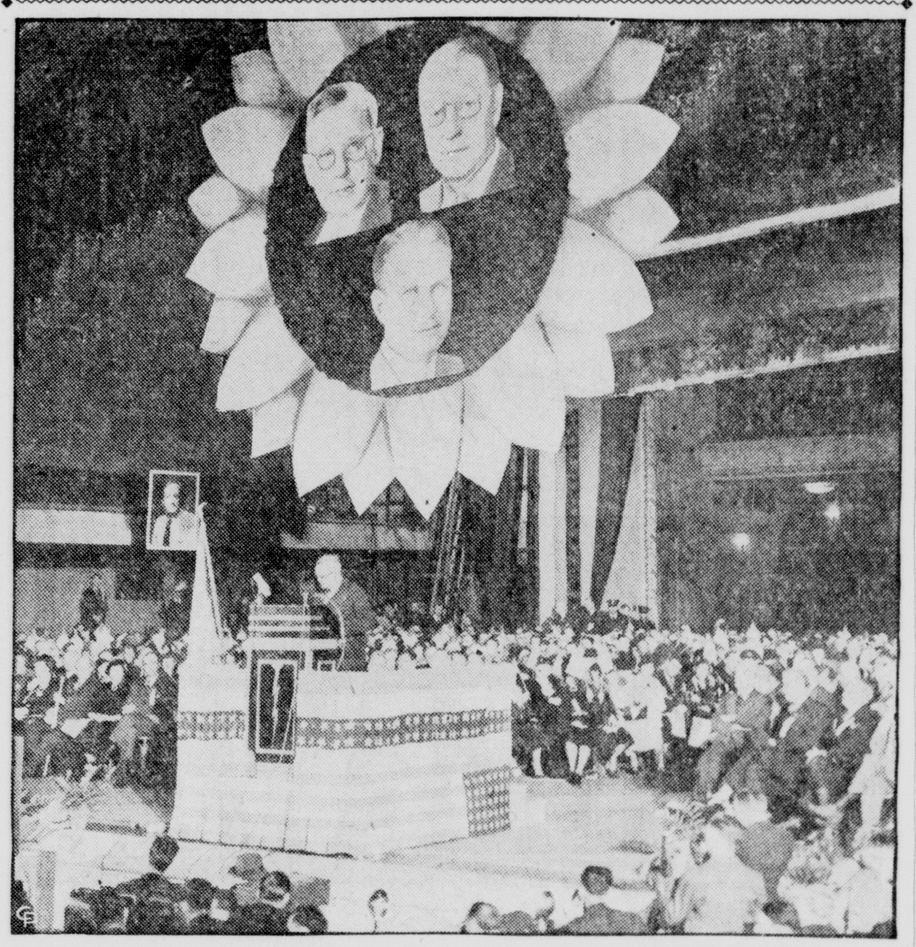
Faithfulness of Oscar, a dog owned by Clarence Hunt, Tulsa Okla., brings him the society's silver medal. Oscar kept a lone vigil for hours over the body of another dog, Oscar's pal, when the dog was killed by a motor truck.

Dick, a bright-eyed Collie, was cited for heroism that saved the life of his master and the latter's son, when fire broke out in the mine where Joseph Stark and his son, of Downieville, Cal., were working. Dick ran through the smoke filled tunnel and guided the pair to safety.

The fidelity of Lady Snow Ball, a beautiful cat, brings the award to this faithful companion of her master, W. Hampton Smith of Louisiana, Mo. Smith had been blind for years but is guided, indoore and out, by the soft-footed Lady Snow Ball.

Prince Pluto, a St. Bernard dog owned by R. J. Gunther, Newport Beach, Cal., receives the award for his heroism in rescuing six-year-old George Mabes from drowning in the surf off Newport Beach.

Landon Cheered As He Raps Relief Policies



Coming to the scene of his nomination in Cleveland, Governor Alfred M. Landon, is pictured speaking before a crowd of 17,000 persons in the great municipal auditorium. The Republican presidential candidate condemned New Deal relief methods and advocated a return to state administration of relief funds.

Petition Presented To Satisfy Mortgage

Instrument Given In 1875 On Property Now Held By Pennsylvania Power Company

The Pennsylvania Power company, through vice president, L. B. Round, has presented a petition to court asking for the satisfaction of an old mortgage on a property located on S Mercer street. The property was conveyed by the New Castle Electric company to the Power company by deed dated, June 23rd, 1926.

On April 29th, 1875, according to the records, the New Castle Gas and Light company executed a mortgage to Cyrus Clark and David Sankey, given to secure an issue of bonds to the amount of $20,000, payable in ten years. This mortgage has never been satisfied. Clark and Sankey are both dead. The next of kin of David Sankey are living in California, and none of the kin of Clark have been found.

Title from the New Castle Gas and Light company passed into the hands of the Lawrence Gas company, and the latter mortgaged the property to the Safe Deposit company of Pittsburgh to secure an issue of $50,000 worth of bonds. This mortgage was foreclosed, the property being sold by the sheriff to Randall Montgomery. Records of the Pittsburgh Safe Deposit company, relating to the transaction were destroyed by the flood of 1936.

The petitioner believes that no demand for principal or interest has been made on the mortgage in question for over twenty years, and there is no record of its ever having been assigned. Judge W. Walter Braham directed that notice by publication be given to the holder of the mortgage or bonds, if any, and that they be required to show cause, why the mortgage should not be satisfied, as it is believed that the mortgage has been paid.

Owens, will sing and other special music will also be furnished.

Japan And Russia Exchange Protests

Japan Claims Soviet Troops Fire Upon Japanese On Border

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service)

TOKYO, Oct. 13.—Ink had hardly drid on an exchange of strong protests between Tokyo and Moscow today before Japan charged the third Manchukuo-Siberia frontier incident in two days.

Three Manchu soldiers commanded by the Japanese Lieutenant Tominaga were fired on by Soviet troops on the eastern Manchukuo frontier yesterday while they were searching for the bodies of four soldiers killed in two clashes Sunday, according to information here.

Lieut. Tominaga was reported missing.

Japan's protest to Moscow, latest of a long series, charged that the Soviet soldiers fired on Manchu patrols, but Moscow insisted the clashed occurred on Siberian soil.

It must be cowardly to have the grippe. The philosopher tells us: "It is the coward who dies a thousand deaths."

Airline Hostesses May Lose Their Jobs

Eastern Airline Announces That Male Stewards Will Take Over Planes

Two Other Air Concerns Will Stick To Girl Hostesses, Is Belief

By KENNETH T. DOWNS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Is the pretty little airline hostess about to become extinct, like the buffalo? Is she about to be crowded out of her place in the sky by a flying jeeves?

Some alarmists are afraid so and a fine tempest is brewing over Eastern Air Line's announcement that after December 1, male stewards will be placed in service on all the flights of the great silver fleet.

Heroic Traditions

Some pretty heroic traditions have sprung up around the hostess in the brief history of commercial aviation. To a large part of the public the little girl in the perky uniform has become a more romantic figure than a follies beauty; a combination of Florence Nightingale and your favorite movie star.

This part of the public is quite excited at the thought the hostess may be replaced entirely by flight stewards in the future.

It is really nothing to get excited about, however, according to Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, vice president and general manager of Eastern Air Lines.

Normal Development

"Just a normal development in the evolution of aviation," said Rickenbacker of the decision to install male stewards. He is rather amused at the current controversy.

"Let's disregard entirely the psychological aspects of the situation," he said, "aspects which tell us that women resent other women serving them—and possibly outshining them—in planes, and that men may be as embarrassed as pleased when a hostess bends over to explain the topography below.

Matter Of Service

"It's all a matter of service. In the best domestic and continental restaurants men, not women, serve. Pullman trains utilize porters. Steamship service, represented by stewards and male waiters, has always been pointed to as the ne plus ultra in travel accommodation. Even buses use men porters. It is because men give the best service.

"Aboard Eastern Air Lines men will offer the same thing. They will not be obsequious; they will not flatter; they will not be obtrusive. They will see that every meal is served in the best taste. They will be deferential. They will never obtrude their views, opinions or services when they are not desired. They will be servants trained to the job of superlative service."

At present co-pilots are performing these functions on Eastern Air Line's planes.

While the girls appear to be definitely out there, they are with Transcontinental and Western Air Lines to stay, according to officials of that line. TWA heads say the only arguments against hostesses are (1) that making up berths is too much work for them, and (2) they marry out of the service.

New Castle Man Involved In Crash

Over 300 Motorists Are Assessed Fines

BUTLER, Pa., Oct. 13.—In the past eight days over 300 motorists have been arrested here for speeding.

Most of the arrests have been made in the Cooperstown district, a restricted speed area. Highway patrol officers have announced that the anti-speeding drive is designed to check accidents on the superhighway.

Violators face the prospect of investing in "commonweath stock" in the form of $10 fines, paying an added "premium" of about $3.75 in costs.

Webster Delights Concert Audience

Opening Concert Of Civic Music Association An Outstanding Success

After a period of musical drought in New Castle—too long a period—showers of pianoforte brilliance fell in the Senior high school auditorium Monday evening, with Bevridge Webster in the position of rainmaker.

It was the first concert of the newly organized Civic Music Association and if the association keeps all of its concerts on the same plane as that of this unusual young pianist, the future success of the organization is assured.

Bevridge Webster could hardly help being an intelligent musician with the background which is his. But to the heritage handed down to him from his father, the late Bevridge Webster, he has added a brilliance of style that will keep the family name high in the muiscal world for many years.

Architecturally his program Monday night was sound. Schubert Beethoven, Chopin, Mendelssohn, Debussy, Liszt, from these old masters he selected not the works which have become slightly backneved, but their most difficult, albeit their most beautiful works. What would sound staid and ponderous in the hands of an ordinary artist took on beauty and life under his deft fingers.

The sponsors of the Civic Music Association were delighted with their first program as well they might be. The programs of the future will undoubtedly be one of the same high quality.

NIGHT LIFE PROBE IN BEAVER FALLS

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., Oct. 13.—Night life in Beaver Falls will be scanned. Because of numerous complaints of disorders in night clubs and restaurants and the late closing hours, council asked Solicitor Leonard L. Ewing to give an opinion on the powers of council to regulate the opening and closing of restaurants where liquor is dispensed.

Councilman Harry Brotherton, who laid the complaints, said young girls and women were carried intoxicated, from a Seventh avenue restaurant, near the city building. They were too drunk to walk.

Best Cough Remedy Is Easily Mixed at Home

It's So Easy! Makes a Big Saving. No Cooking.

To get the quickest relief from coughs due to colds, mix your own remedy at home. Once tried, you'll never use any other kind of cough medicine, and it's so simple and easy.

First, make a syrup by stirring 2 cups granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. A child could do it. No cooking needed.

Then get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist. This is a concentrated compound of Norway Pine, famous for its prompt action on throat and bronchial membranes.

Put the Pinex into a pint bottle, and add your syrup. Thus you make a full pint of really better medicine than you could buy ready-made for four times the money. It never spoils, and children love its pleasant taste.

And for quick, blessed relief, it has no equal. You can feel it penetrating the air passages in a way that means business. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the inflamed membranes, and eases the soreness. Thus it makes breathing easy, and lets you get restful sleep.

Just try it, and if not pleased, your money will be refunded.

Doctor-Nurse Are Held On Grave Charge

Illegal Operation Sanitarium In Newark, N. J., Raided By Police

(International News Service)

NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 13.—A gray-haired surgeon and his pretty nurse faced arraignment in Newark family court tomorrow following a raid on a strange club in which illegal operations allegedly were performed on nearly 2,500 women, many of them from excellent New York and New Jersey families.

After the initial operation, police said, many of the women and girls joined the club, paying dues of $2 a month for insurance against possible motherhood.

Book Seized

Police seized a large black book containing the membership roster. Here, in addition to names, addresses and descriptions of the members, detectives were surprised to find photographs of the women as well. In most cases there were three photographs of each woman. One showed her in street attire, one in underclothing and one entirely in the nude.

The arrested physician is Dr. George Harley, 66. The nurse is Anna Green, an attractive 28-year-old brunette. Dr. Harley has been arrested thrice previously on illegal operation charges. He never was convicted.

Girl Tells All

According to Deputy Police Chief Sebold, of the morals squad, women patients have been coming to the hospital from all parts of the east for the last 18 months. About 100 patients came from one large business concern in Newark. Because of elaborate precautions taken at the large sanitarium, its operations were not detected until a 19-year-old girl was taken ill and rushed to City hospital. Reluctantly she told the secret of the place which led to the raid last night.

Sebold said charges for the first operation ranged from $75 to $400, depending upon the wealth of the patient's family. After that the patients, by paying $2 monthly dues, became "members" and were assured future treatment free.

"Many of the patients were girls in their "teens," said Sebold. "A number apparently were repeaters. Under most of the photographs a single "X" appeared. But under some there were two and sometimes three."

Former Lover Of Mata Hari Dies, Victim Of Bullets

Pierre De Morissac, Who Entered Monastery After Spy's Death, Is Killed

(International News Service)

PARIS, Oct. 13.—The former sweetheart of Mata Hari, who has spent his life since the famous dancer-spy's execution in monastic retirement, has joined her in death, a victim of the Spanish civil war, the Journal Des Debats said today.

After his vigorous defense of the spy had failed at her trial in 1917, Pierre De Morissac, who regarded as her fiance, retired to the Aula Dei monastery at Penaflor, Spain, the story said.

When all his monk companions fled during the civil war, De Morissac single-handed held off the loyalist Spanish attackers of the monastery by training a solitary machine gun on them.

Clad in the cassock of his order, his body was later found—but around were also lying the bodies of many government soldiers he had slain.

Dr. Levine was walking at the time of the accident, according to police. The report yesterday said Dr. Levine was driving.

St. George Church Has Buffet Dinner

A capacity crowd was in attendance at a buffet supper and entertainment given in the St. George Greek Orthodox church, corner Agnew and East Reynolds street, Sunday night.

The event was given to better acquaint parishers with their new pastor, Rev. Piliaros, and John Mikros, new teacher. During the course of the evening interesting addresses were delivered by Rev. Piliaros, Mr. Mikros, President George DeVasil and George Kostakis. Tap dance by Gloria Logothetis and solos by Miss Alike Mitsou and Miss Alen Papazekos, featured the program. The event was a marked success.

This is denied by Kohn.

VERDICT RENDERED IN FAVOR OF PLAINTIFF

In the case of Antonio Servidio against James and Grist Talagamis trading as the Star Meat Market which was tried before Judge W. FARLEY'S POSTMASTER OUSTING IS ATTACKED

Republicans Assail Action

Charge 510 Postmasters Ousted To Make Jobs For Political Workers

CITE BOSTON AND PITTSBURGH CASES

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—The Republican National Committee charged today that 510 postmasters who had advanced under the merit system out of a total of only 850 who belonged to the Service Postmasters' Association were fired by Postmaster General James A. Farley "to make jobs for political workers."

The committee's statement said:

"Practically none of the appointees forced into the postal service by James A. Farley in his efforts to build up a machine to insure the reelection of President Roosevelt had any experience whatever calculated to fit them for the important places to which they were named.

"In many cities, for example Boston, the newspapers, regardless of political affiliations, were unanimous in demanding that the postmaster be retained. In most instances the business men of the city were anxious, for the sake of efficiency in handing the mail, that the experienced and able incumbents be kept on the job.

Protests Are Made

"In the Boston case the popular demand that the old postmaster be retained was not confined to the city, but spread out to business men in other cities who wanted their mail to and from Boston expeditously handled. In New York, for example, Democratic New York Times protested, both in news articles and editorials, against the obvious purpose of Jim Farley to Tammanize the postal service in a city more than 200 miles away.

"Farley ignored the protests of the Boston newspapers, the protests of the Boston business men, . . . he ignored incidentally the protest of both U. S. senators from Massachusetts, though both of them were Democrats. He was intent on building a New Deal machine and was not interested in what regular Democrats thought about it.

Cite Pittsburgh Case

"Among others who won promotion through civil service and then were fired to make room for one of Democratic National Chairman Farley's boys, was James B. Anderson, Pittsburgh postmaster. Anderson, after 35 years in the service with a perfect record, was ousted to make room for a practical politician, whose business experience, fitting him for conducting the affairs of one of the largest postoffices in the nation, has been gained in a florist's shop. He, in turn stepping up to a more lucrative political job, gave way to a still more practical politician, an ex-police judge, ex-jury investigator, ex-safety director, ex-traction board member.

"Not only the 3850 members of the Service Post-masters' Association were decimated in order to make the United States Postal Service safe for the New Deal politicians who were deserving of reward for rounding up the vote in their communities or contributing to campaign funds but the ax of Jim Farley, postmaster general and chief spoilsman of the New Deal, swung indiscriminately among the 14,000 postmasters in the country.

"Two executive orders issued from the White House show that President Roosevelt seconded Farley's determination that no deserving Democrat who wanted a job in the postal service should go without one."

CONDITION OF AUTO VICTIM IS SERIOUS

Condition of Dr. Benjamin Levine, of Pittsburgh, injured in an automobile collision at the intersection of West Grant and Shenango streets at 9:45 Saturday evening, is still serious, it was stated at the Jameson Memorial hospital, where he is undergoing treatment, although he had a fair night last night. He suffered injuries to the head and a fracture of both legs.

It is well to remember that history is full of important citizens who are remembered only because of their ill treatment of some nobody who became immortal.

"YES, they may never call me rich, but by watching expenses the Missus and I have managed to save a little each week. Had to figure costs pretty close to do it and still keep house the way we're used to it. One thing we found out—when we used old-fashioned heating, there were a lot of extra costs besides the fuel. Extra cleaning bills, replacing burnt out grates, doctor bills for winter sickness caused by uneven temperatures—keep track of these expenses because they add up."

John Cassidy, Of Sharon, Is To Be 'Mikado'

Well Known Westminster Graduate Singing Title Role Here Next Week

JOHN CASSIDY

For the part of the Mikado in the famous Gilbert and Sullivan light opera of that name, which is to be presented in the Cathedral on Wednesday and Thursday nights of next week, the directors, W. W. Campbell and Prof. A. T. Cordray, of New Wilmington, have been fortunate in securing the talents of a Sharon man, John Cassidy, well known in musical circles of this section.

Mr. Cassidy had the same role in the very successful Sharon production of "The Mikado" two years ago. He is a graduate of Westminster College and is now teaching English in the Sharon schools. For a number of years, local friends will recall, he sang in the choir of the Highland U. P. church of New Castle.

United Lutherans Will Be Cautioned Against Alarmists

Re-study Of Reformation Principles To Be Advised In Convention Address

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 13.—That Christians carefully sift out true from false in present-day pronouncements in the press, over the radio, in the forum, "and even back of the sacred pulpit itself", will be the suggestion of the Rev. Dr. F. H. Knubel, president of the United Lutheran Church in America, in presenting his biennial report at the opening business session of the 10th convention, meeting in Ohio's capital city Thursday, Oct. 15, for a week of important church business.

Following the service Wednesday night in First Evangelical Lutheran church, when President Knubel will preach the sermon, and the delegates will receive the Sacrament of the Altar, business sessions open on Thursday morning at the Deshler-Wallick hotel.

Dr. Knubel's report specifically refers to expressions of alarm relating to the dangers for the church from theistic communism. He states that he sees real dangers from this source, but that such dangers "do not justify some present procedures", nor do they call for "hysterical action and high-pressure methods." He defines a Christian as a person who possesses "studied religious convictions instead of flippant, cant opinions", and who lives by those convictions. As "the sure answer to atheism" Dr. Knubel urges the re-study of reformation principles, and "the redemptive emphasis in preaching which carries God's supreme message."

Thursday and Friday sessions give special place for two unusual programs, the formal reception of delegates from the Lutheran World convention, and the centennial anniversary of the Protestant Diaconate. Later in the convention, probably on Wednesday, Oct. 21, the convention will recognize the centennial of the Ohio Synod.

Decision Favors Pittsburgh Coal Co.

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 13.—A court battle of many years standing was at an end today with the Pittsburgh Coal Company victorious in its fight for the right to operate its own river-rail connection between western Pennsylvania mines and the rich Youngstown, O., fuel market.

The United States supreme court refused to review a decision in favor of the company, fought by the Pennsylvania Railroad and the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Railroad, who sought to prevent construction by the coal company or what they termed "a complete line from Pittsburgh to Youngstown."

With the decision, the Pittsburgh Coal Company won the right to ship coal on its own barges on the Ohio river to Smiths Ferry, Pa., and in its own rail cars from that point to Youngstown district mills.

United States In New Gold Selling Agreement Move

Great Britain, France And U. S. On "New Gold Standard"

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—The United States Great Britain and France went on a "new gold standard" today by agreeing to sell each other gold through the channels of their currency stabilization funds.

The pact is an outgrowth of the recent stabilization agreement which the three governments hope to use as the foundation for permanent stability in foreign exchange On September 25, they adopted a "gentlemen's agreement" to prevent international monetary fluctuations by pegging the exchange value of the dollar, pound and franc.

Under the new pact, the United States will sell gold for immediate export to the stabilization funds of France and England at a price of $35 per fine ounce plus one-quarter per cent handling charge.

This agreement, will be operated on a 24-hour basis, each country having the privilege of altering or revoking the pact on a day's notice. Britain and France will sell gold to the United States subject to terms and conditions that this government deems advantageous to its interest.

Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau said other nations can join in the agreement by complying with the same conditions.

Take Exception To Radio Orders

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 13.—Taking exception to a recent ruling by the federal communications commission ordering radio station WCAE here to broadcast Communist party campaign addresses, Pittsburgh lodge No. 46, Loyal Order of Moose today urged amendment of FCC rules.

A resolution sent by the order to the commission set forth, in part:

"All true Americans with red blood running through their veins . . . object to such regulations under the commissioner's ruling as a precedent that can open the way for leaders of all radical movements to overthrow the American form of government . . .

"The radio would have a tendency to carry such preachings into our very homes at will and implant poison into the thoughts and minds of our children . . ."

The FCC ruling came recently following refusal of the radio station to broadcast an address by Earl Browder, Communist candidate for president.

Don't go, Griselda!

By

Effie J. Young

She Resigned a Trip to Bermuda and so—Griselda Found Her Heaven...

McClure Fiction

Illustrated by SKRENDA

Jimmie jumped to his feet. "Griselda! Dear, dear Griselda!" he greeted her.

IT TOOK Griselda Geer six weeks to find out that Jimmie Dennison was the only man in the world for her. Then it was too late.

She met him at a party in Passaic. Long ago Griselda had established in her mind that when the man she would marry came into her life it would be in a setting remote from prosaic things like library shelves in Bloomfield where she worked or parties in Passaic where her friends lived. Perhaps it would be on the deck of a steamer bound for Rhodesia. Perhaps in an enchanting villa on the Riviera. Certainly not in Passaic, where half the town was made up of factories and in the other half people lived who tried to pretend that the factories didn't exist.

Not that Griselda had much real chance of ever disporting herself in a villa on the Riviera or any other place, for that matter, any further away than Passaic. Not on twenty-two dollars a week.

Never did her day dreams concern themselves with how she would get to these glamorous places. They always began with her already there—and then HE would come on the scene and Griselda would be completely lost. He was tall and dark and charming and rich and had been all over the world without falling in love—until he met Griselda.

That was what came of reading too much. Griselda had no time to read in the library, there was too much work to do. But in the evenings in her room at Mrs. Day's she did practically nothing else.

Now and then she went to see a movie with Marion Oberly who roomed with her at Mrs. Day's. And nearly every weekend she and Marion took a bus to Passaic, and had a nice enough time with Marion's aunt. Marion's twin cousins, Clifford and Jane, were gay and friendly and there were always lots of young people at the house.

Then Jane threw a party for Cliff's girl and Griselda met Jimmie. Or rather Jimmie met Griselda, for the impression was all on his side. Jimmie had reddish tousled hair and a homely freckled face and he barely topped Griselda in height. Before she had a chance to walk off he had steered her into a corner.

"For heaven's sake, Angel," he hurled at her, "I almost didn't come to this party! How would you have gone on living?"

"I can't imagine," said Griselda sweetly and looked beyond him for someone tall and dark and good looking.

Jimmie wrinkled up his nose. "Let's cut this," he begged, waving his arms toward the crowd, "let's go out for a walk. We've years to catch up on."

"In one evening?" Griselda asked, amused.

"We could skip things and fill in later," he grinned. "I want to ask a lot of questions. Such as—do you know you're the prettiest girl I've ever seen and are you in love with anyone or engaged or anything? Because if you are, I'll shoot to kill if I have to burn for it—"

"Put up your gun," Griselda whispered loudly, "the bullet might bounce back and hit you on the nose."

For that he hugged her, swiftly and exuberantly. "Come on out, darling, I want to show you the stars."

"I'd rather dance," said Griselda, but not unkindly.

"O. K.," said Jimmie. "The stars'll wait."

He put out his arms as it he were offering her the opened gates of Paradise.

JIMMIE took Griselda and Marion back to Bloomfield in a tumble-down Ford he borrowed from Cliff. He asked Griselda if he could come to see her the next night and she said no because she worked until nine in the library on Monday and Wednesday evenings.

"I'll come after nine," said Jimmie but Griselda demurred.

"I'll be too tired," she said and got out of the car. Marion hopped out too.

"I'll come Tuesday then," said Jimmie, escorting them up the stairs.

"Oh no, Tuesday Marion and I are going to a bridge," Griselda told him. "And Wednesday I work late again. Call me up some time next week, why don't you?"

"I'm checking out of Passaic next Monday," said Jimmie, pausing on the top step. "I'd better come tomorrow night. So long, girls." He raised his hat and ran down the stairs and into the dilapidated car.

"Can you beat that!" gasped Griselda.

"He's fallen for you, darling," Marion laughed, "and you're a lucky girl. He's grand."

"Grand?" Griselda's voice was unbelieving. "Grand? why he's just a fresh kid who ought to be put in his place. What did he mean he's checking out of Passaic? Doesn't he live there?"

"No," said Marion, "I think Cliff said he was stopping with his aunt in Passaic for a few weeks. I don't know where he lives."

Jimmie was waiting when Griselda came out of the library the next night. He was sitting on the top step, legs nonchalantly crossed, his head propped against the marble post, his eyes fixed on the swinging door. His eyes lit up happily when he caught sight of her and he jumped to his feet. Griselda took one look at his face and knew there was nothing to be gained by remonstrating with him.

"Hello, Determined," she greeted him.

"Hi, Angel," he grinned. "Come on off your pedestal and show me the town."

They crossed the street. Opposite the library was the charming old Green. Here and there under the trees were benches and Jimmie steered her to one under a low, long-branched willow.

"Look, Griselda," said Jimmie, "will you do me a favor? Let me come down to see you every night 'til I go home? It's only a week."

"If I say no," she said, "you'll probably come anyway."

"Right," he admitted cheerfully, "so please be nice and say yes. I want to see as much of you as I can before I go back to work. I won't get a vacation for another year."

"Well—" Griselda began.

"You darling!"

THEY were grand evenings for Griselda, the six nights Jimmie Dennison came and took her out. It was great to rush to your room after the day's monotonous routine and slip into something thin and pretty and go places with someone whose eyes adored you all evening. While she was dressing Griselda let her imagination soar. She would pretend she was in her boudoir in her villa at Cannes. Presently the maid would enter and announce the arrival of the dark, romantic looking stranger she had noticed staring intently at her on the beach that morning—

Jimmie knew the most enchanting things about stars. After dinner one night they sat on a bench in the park swathed in moonlight.

"You know, darling," he told her holding her hands in his, "if you ever want a wish to come true, make it to the North Star over your left shoulder. They say if you're the first one to sight the North Star the night you make your wish, it'll come true—I'm going to try it." He turned abruptly and looking skyward over his shoulder, his lips began to move. Then he turned back and sat down close beside her.

Suddenly she was in his arms and he was kissing her and kissing her and forgetting to stop . . . and let it be recorded that Griselda kissed him back several times. She couldn't help it.

"Darling!" His arms were around her again, his voice jubilant. "I was the first tonight. I was."

Sunday night they went back to Cliff's house where Griselda felt completely surrounded by Jimmies. There was one at every turn she made, gay and attentive and amusing, and in the end they all turned out to be Jimmie Dennison.

Griselda sensed all the way home on the bus that something serious was impending.

"Let's sit on the steps a minute," Jimmie urged, when they reached Mrs. Day's.

"I'm awfully tired, Jimmie."

His face clouded. "I'd better go then."

"Are you really leaving tomorrow?" asked Griselda, wishing she could somehow take the hurt look off his face.

"I could stay until about eleven at night," Jimmie responded hopefully. "Look, Griselda, if I could come down and meet you at the library at nine, would you spend those last two hours with me? I could bring my bags down and take the train from here. Griselda, I want to talk to you—about something."

In spite of Rhodesia, Griselda's heart tingled. In spite of the Riviera, her voice trembled.

"All right, Jim, tomorrow at nine," she said weakly and ran up the stairs. Impulsively she turned at the last step and blew him a kiss. Jimmie threw his hat up in the air and let out a triumphant whoop.

GRISELDA awoke with a headache, but knew she mustn't be weak. She must give her life a chance for the glamour her dreams had promised.

She thought it all out as she dressed and got breakfast ready. If she could avoid Jimmie tonight and he went away, she would be safe. If she saw him again, and let him tell her what she knew he was going to, there was no telling what would happen. Perhaps Marion would help her.

"Marion," she said, looking fixedly at her coffee cup, "will you do something for me? When Jimmie comes to the library tonight at nine, I'd like you to be there instead of me. Tell him I was called away to stay with a sick friend unexpectedly, and I'll have to sleep over. Will you, Marion, please?"

Marion put out an admonitory finger. "You're a fool, darling. Jimmie's a nice boy, if ever there was one. You'd be crazy to let him go—"

"Nice isn't enough," Griselda said firmly. "Please let's not discuss it any more, Marion. Be a pal and do as I ask."

Marion shrugged her shoulders. "O. K.," she said. "I'll be there. How'll you get out without his seeing you?"

"I'll get off early," said Griselda. "And I will go see a sick friend. I'll go see Helen Small. She hasn't come to work in a couple of days. Laid up with the grip."

But she didn't go to see Helen Small. She got out at 8 o'clock and started to walk to Helen's house with lagging steps. She didn't feel like talking to anyone at all. She felt glum and very restless.

She walked past the theatre and saw that William Powell was playing there. Impulsively she went up to the cashier's window and bought a ticket. The darkness inside was restful. She wondered what Jimmie would say when he met Marion on the library steps. She wondered if she would ever see him again.

It was nearly midnight when Griselda returned to Mrs. Day's. She had stayed until the theatre closed, to make sure Jimmie would be gone by the time she reached home. He might have decided to wait for her those two hours on the chance she might change her mind about sleeping over.

But it was dark on the porch and dark in their room. Marion was asleep. Griselda undressed and lay down beside her and the glum feeling came back. She couldn't fall asleep without knowing what had happened. She nudged Marion and when her roommate stirred, she called her name once or twice and Marion opened an eye.

"What did he say?" asked Griselda anxiously.

Marion sat up stiffly. "I'll tell you what he said," she reported with grim satisfaction. "He growled, 'Darn it, darn it, darn it, I'll never bother with a girl again,' and he picked up his bags and ran down the stairs as if the place were on fire. And that's the end of your Jimmie, my dear." She flopped down, shut her eyes and in a minute was asleep again.

Griselda lay very still. Poor Jimmie, she thought. I didn't mean to hurt you. I'm sorry if I did. Don't you see, Jimmie, I couldn't be happy in a dingy little apartment in Bayonne or wherever you work? Don't you see Jimmie, I really belong to far-off places, to the world at large—she was still talking to Jimmie when she fell asleep, her pillow strangely damp.

IT gave her an odd feeling to come out of the library and not see Jimmie there. Several times she thought she saw him coming down the street and hurried forward to meet him only to find that it was someone of his height and not Jimmie himself. Once as she came out of the library she thought she saw him seated across the street on the bench beneath the willow. Eagerly she hastened down the steps and dashed across to the Green to find a reddish haired stranger. She'd been almost positive that time and in her disappointment tears came to her eyes.

It was just six weeks after Jimmie left that Marion told her Powell was back in town in his latest film.

"Come on, Griselda," she coaxed, "your favorite's back. Let's go down and spend the evening with handsome Bill."

On the way home after a block of silence Marion spoke up.

"Look here, child," she said flatly, "if I were you I'd get in touch with Jimmie Dennison pretty darn' quick."

Griselda stopped short and stared at her. "Would you, Marion?" she asked eagerly. "Would you really? What about my pride?"

"Throw it out the window," Marion retorted. "What's the good of eating your heart out over a little foolish pride? Call up Cliff and find out where Jimmie lives."

"But maybe he never wants to speak to me again after the way I treated him," said Griselda wistfully. "Maybe I'd only be making a—"

"Maybe he'll be tickled pink," Marion said.

"Do you really think so?" asked Griselda joyfully. She leaped up the steps and called back over her shoulder. "Do you think Cliff's up yet?"

"Wouldn't be surprised," said Marion. "Try him."

Cliff was up but no help. "Gosh, Griselda," he said regretfully, "I haven't the slightest idea where he comes from. I met him when I was out one night with the boys and then I asked them all to come up to the party and he came, too. Seems to me he was visiting an aunt in Passaic but I haven't the slightest idea who she is."

"Oh," said Griselda. "Oh!" Then after a moment, "That's all right, Cliff. It wasn't important anyway. Thanks just the same. Good night."

SIX months almost to a day after Jimmie had made his exit from Griselda's life, one of the golden opportunities Griselda used to dream about was suddenly presented to her. Patricia Pomeroy, president of the Junior League, brought the news, her face beaming.

"Miss Geer," she said, bending eagerly over the lending desk, "I've the most wonderful news. Remember the ticket you bought from me for the drawing of a grand prize? You know, for the benefit of the Children's Hospital?"

"Yes," said Griselda and held her breath.

"You've won!" Miss Pomeroy announced. "Aren't you the lucky girl? It's a trip for two to Bermuda! The Travel Bureau donated it."

Griselda gasped and was speechless.

"We just drew the numbers this morning," Miss Pomeroy went on, "isn't it too thrilling?"

"It's perfectly wonderful of course," Griselda said. "But—er—I wonder, could I give the tickets to some friends of mine? You see—I—I expect someone—on a visit any day. I can't go away."

What if Jimmie should come back while I'm gone? she was thinking. What if he should?

Miss Pomeroy was astonished but agreeable. "I'm sure it can be arranged," she said.

Griselda told Helen Small she and Marion could have the tickets. Helen couldn't get over it. Neither could any of the other girls when she told them. You'd see them whispering in twos and threes all that day in all parts of the library.

"Griselda Geer had a chance to go to Bermuda and turned it down. Imagine that! Griselda Geer!"

But Griselda had no pangs. What would Bermuda be like with no Jimmie? Rhodesia even, or the Riviera. It took Jimmie to give things zest for her. She knew that now without any doubt.

At nine, when she walked out of the library she had the shock of her life. There sat Jimmie, grin and all, on the top step. He jumped to his feet.

"Griselda! Dear, dear Griselda!" he greeted her and at the sound of his voice something tightened up in her throat so much she was afraid she was going to cry.

"Jimmie, Jimmie!" She put out both her hands and he grabbed them and held them tightly. They looked at each other for a full minute, then they turned and walked down the stairs. They crossed the street to the Green as if in a dream and sat down beneath the willow.

"I couldn't stick it," said Jimmie, eyes fastened on her radiant face. "I couldn't stop thinking about you, so I made up my mind I'd come back and make you love me—somehow."

"I've been such a fool, Jimmie," she admitted, dark eyes glowing, "I've loved you all the time but it wasn't until you went away that I found out."

Her head sank against his shoulder. He put his arm around her and drew her close. His kisses were exactly as she had remembered them—tender and swift and adoring. She nestled down deeper in the region of his shoulder.

"Darling," said Jimmie proudly, holding her chin up, "I've fixed everything. My company transferred me to their place in Bayonne. You know I was stationed in Sumatra."

Griselda gasped. Sumatra! Jimmie in a distant land of glamour all the time! Jimmie!

"I wouldn't think of asking a nice American girl to go live in a dirty, deadly place like that, honey. There are only four or five dozen white women in the whole settlement and they haven't anything to do but sit inside all day and brood. There's no place to go and it's too darn' hot to do anything anyway."

"Oh," said Griselda. "Oh!" So those far-off places weren't nearly so attractive when you got right down to living in them. Well, even if they were—where Jimmie was, heaven would be, and what could be lovelier than heaven?

"Have they any nice apartment houses in Bayonne, dear?" she asked dreamily and cuddled closer to him.

Give History Of Ellwood Church

Abbreviated History Given As Providence Baptist Church Has 135th Birthday

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 13.—As the Providence Baptist Church is marking its 135 birthday anniversary this year an abbreviated history of the church has been compiled by Mrs. J. R. Routledge, wife of the pastor, and presented herewith.

History Of Church

This Providence Baptist church is the oldest church in the county. It was organized in 1801, by Elder Spear, an itinerant preacher, the people coming for miles around through trackless forests, and over unbridged streams.

The Ellwood City country club now stands opposite the place where the log cabin of Ezekial Jones and his wife Hannah lived, and where the first Baptist church was organized. The mother church of many churches, notably Beaver Falls, New Brighton, Harlansburg, Harmony, Sharon and Ellwood City.

November, 1801 a log church was erected with 21 members, who these charter members were is not recorded, only the names of Ezekial Jones and his wife Hannah and the Elder Spear.

In the earliest lists of members, we recognize the names of ancestors of many present members, and also members of sister churches whose heritage of godly influence has been handed down from generation to generation, not only enriching the churches, but has endowed the community and nearby towns, with untold blessing.

Among the elders of those early days we find the names of Ezekial Jones, Henry Kikendall, Oliver Jones, Isaac, John, Nathanial James and Nathan Hazen, Benjamin Reno, William Gardner, Matthew Kelly, Daniel Main and Samuel Thomas. These have all long since passed to their reward, their rudely craved gravestones, crumbling in the churchyard nearby.

The old yellow records are interesting reading, containing as they do, admissions into fellowship by baptism, letter and profession of faith. There are records of charges, trials, confessions of disorderly conduct and walk, and restorations into the fold. The thoughts and actions of saint and sinner, often both in one.

It would seem that the arch enemy of souls, had a very important part in the lives of those sturdy pioneers, but such is not the case, the scribes merely attached more importance to the shortcomings, than to the acts of faith and love, and fighting the devil was undoubtedly a more important task than serving God. Still these sturdy pioneers honored and served God aright, and He blessed them and

Commerce Board To Reorganize Later

Meeting For Reorganization Is Postponed Until Later Date

At a meeting held at noon today by the board of directors of the New Castle Chamber of Commerce, the reorganization of the board was postponed until the next regular meeting.

Election of officers was to have taken place at today's meeting, but this action was held over until a later date.

Rev. Ferguson Tells Lions Of Vacation Enjoyed In Trailer

The Rev. D. L. Ferguson, pastor of the Highland U. P. church, believes that "this trailer enthusiasm sweeping the country" is more than just a craze.

Speaking before the Lions club today on the experiences of his own "home on wheels" vacation this summer, the North Hill minister declared:

"I think it'll prove more than a craze. It has all the elements of permanence. The company which turned out my trailer tells me that it expects to turn out 10,000 new units for next summer."

Most of the pastor's talk dealt more with his personal experiences while motoring through the east and northeast.

A guest from California, Percy P. MacNab, gifted song leader, led the pep singing during the meeting. During the song period a quartet composed of MacNab, E. D. Marvin, Browne K. Thacker and Rev. Ferguson sang.

When acquaintances no longer seem impolite or grouchy, it means your grippe is somewhat better.

Arrest Five Boys On Perry Highway

Held At Butler Barracks On Charge Of Series Of Robberies

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 13. — Five Northside boys, whose ages ranged from 13 to 16, were held by the state police at the Butler barracks today, accused of a series of thefts and robberies. They will be given a hearing either today or tomorrow.

The lads were arrested yesterday on the Perry highway, near Warrendale, driving a big sedan which they had stolen in Washington, Pa., according to state troopers Harold Munsee and Gordon Foley.

It was the third car they had stolen since last Thursday, police allege the youths admitted. In the sedan the boys were carrying a washing machine and other household goods which police say were taken from summer cottages in Harmony Junction, Butler county. They were also accused of breaking into the gas station of G. Meeder in Cranberry township.

Foil Plot To Destroy Boat

(International News Service)

MARSEILLES, France, Oct. 13.—Acting quickly on a tip-off, two policemen frustrated an attempt to bomb the small Spanish sailing vessel Cali Pi in Marseilles harbor today.

The policemen rushed aboard ship and extinguished a fuse on a bomb shortly before it was to have exploded.

Authorities believed the bomb was intended for a similar vessel, the Margarita Taberner, registered out of Valencia, Spain, which had just departed from the same berth loaded with materials for Spanish government forces.

WHAT SHAKESPEARE SAID

The web of our life is a mingled yarn, good and ill together; our virtues would be proud, if our faults whipped them not; and our crimes would despair if they were not cherished by our virtues.—All's Well That End Well, Act IV, Scene 3.

Market Highest In Five Years

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—The stock market rose $1 more than $2 a share today to new highs since 1931, with the gold deal between this country, England and France providing a bullish stimulus. Dealings were on a big scale and the high speed ticker fell behind in an early buying rush. Bonds were strong as well.

The dollar was stronger but fluctuations in foreign exchanges were small since foreign currencies in the last two weeks had adjusted themselves to devaluation.

Killer Hunted At Buffalo, N. Y.

Hunt Killer Of Woman And Her Unborn Child In Woods Near Buffalo

(International News Service)

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 13.—Discovery of the purse of Miss Christina Mary Jureller, 31, a mile and a half from the isolated spot in which her brutally beaten body was found today spurred G-men and police in their search for the killer and the father of her unborn baby.

Motorists found the purse in a patch of bushes near the Catteraugus Indian reservation where the body was found. The purse contained about $20 and a few toilet articles.

Police refused to comment on reports a suspect was held for questioning. They awaited the report of fingerprint experts who examined the white collar the girl wore when she was strangled. They also hoped to gain a clue to identity of the father by taking blood tests of the unborn baby.

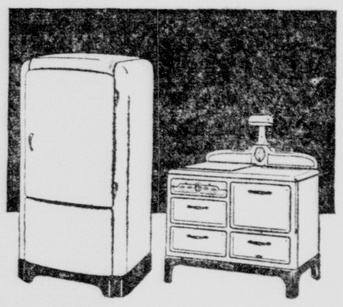
Letters:
from the private life of a Norge owner

"There were just two reasons why I chose Norge. One was the interior with plenty of room to store anything. The other was the superior mechanism—dependable, economical, easy to get at if anything went wrong. Nothing has gone wrong—and I'm convinced that I made the right choice."



"...of course with a beautiful Rollator Refrigerator in my kitchen, I wanted a new range. I didn't even think of buying any but a Norge. The Norge range has resulted in a tremendous saving in fuel consumption—and I do get better cooking results."

"When I decided to replace my old washer, I looked at the Norge Autobuilt Washer first. The Autobuilt transmission and many other features convinced me that I wanted Norge in my laundry as well as in my kitchen. When I tried the Norge Duotrol Ironer, I was amazed to discover that I could iron as well as an expert."

Does Woman Go To College Only To Get Husband?

Westminster College Debaters Will Seek To Argue Question To Decision

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Oct. 13—Is the main purpose of women's attending a liberal arts college to pick up a husband?

Westminster College debaters will try to solve the question this year, as the subject has been chosen for the freshman-sophomore debates. Freshman debaters will uphold the negative and sophomores the affirmative.

Debates this year will be argued before civic clubs instead of before college audiences, since few students turn-out as debate-listeners. The annual debate trip, usually a three-thousand-mile-swing, will penetrate the Middlewest this year, concentrating on Iowa and Wisconsin.

The varsity debate subject, under the sponsorship of W. F. Strausbaugh, debate coach, will be Resolved: that Congress should be empowered to fix minimum wages and maximum hours for industry.

On Court House Hill

In the estate of the late Robert J. Barron, Bernice Barron executrix, presented a petition in court, asking for the confirmation absolutely of the sale of real estate. One tract of 79 acres in Washington county, was sold to John J. and Clara B. Fisher for $1400, and another of ten acres in Hickory township, was sold to Kate M. Barron for $125. The sales were confirmed.

Under the will of the late Mrs. Elizabeth Lloyd, of Pulaski, which has been probated at the register and recorder's office property of decedent, located in Pennsylvania is left to a son, Orville M. Lloyd, also property on Pasadena Ave., Youngstown, O. Property on the Sharon car line is left to her husband, Thomas Lloyd. Orville M. Lloyd is named as executor.

The court has granted the application of the Ellwood City Chamber of Commerce for a charter, which has been placed on record at the register and recorder's office. Directors of the Chamber for the first year are: Charles Z. Bell, J. S. Bowater, C. W. Carbean, Robert Crawford, A. E. Connor, C. C. Davidson, C. D. Hennon, L. W. Monroe, J. I. Porter, Nelson Runyan, Wayne Shiever and C. B. Yahn.

Eighty-seven instruments of all kinds were placed on record at the register and recorder's office last week. Of this number fifty-two were deeds and fourteen were mortgages. Seven were given to building and loan associations, seven to individuals and two to trust companies. There were also two mortgages to the Live Stock Credit Corporation.

In going over the registration bureau records Clerk Thomas Edmunds has found that some persons have registered twice, probably through a misunderstanding. They had registered last year and came back again this year. Cards have been sent to all such persons to come in and withdraw one of the registrations. It is important that they do this, otherwise the registrations may both be thrown out.

Under a ruling just made by the county commissioners and based on an opinion by their solicitor, Attorney William McElwee, Jr., County Treasurer Joseph H. Hartland, has been authorized to make some concessions in the matter of collecting delinquent taxes under the act which provides for payment, less penalties and interest.

This law provides that if the 1935 taxes are paid in full before November 1st, five years will be given in which to pay taxes delinquent prior to 1935. Heretofore, in computing the amount due, Treasurer Hartland has taken into consideration all of the taxes due, that is, the county, school and township.

Under the ruling just made by the county commissioners, if the taxpayer does not find it convenient to pay all of the taxes, he can elect to pay any one of them and still get the benefit of the rebate. This means that if he elects to pay his county tax only, he can get the rebate over the five year period. Or he may elect to pay his school or other tax over the five year period. The point is that he does not have to pay all of his taxes prior to 1935 to get the advantages of the act.

If a citizen is back in his taxes and does not have enough money to bring them up to date, including this year, it is to his advantage to let the 1936 taxes, go unpaid, pay the 1935 taxes, and get the rebate on the balance over a five year period. In order to get the advantages of the rebates of interest and penalties, action must be taken before November 1. Treasurer Hartland reports that a large number of taxpayers have already taken advantage of the act.

Fame is fleeting, and in a few months nobody can even remember what the trans-Atlantic flyer was advertising.

Massillon's High Scoring Football Team Here Friday

New Castle "Red Hurricane" To Meet Tiger At Taggart Stadium

Game At 8 P. M., Massillon To Bring 2,000 Fans For Noctural Engagement

THERE'LL BE A hot time in the old town Friday night.

Meaning, of course, the New Castle - Massillon football battle at Taggart stadium. Upwards of 10,000 fans will no doubt be jammed into the spacious grid arena by kickoff time.

They will come from far and near to see the "Red Hurricane" try to twist the tail of the rantankerous Jungle Beast of Massillon. It will be quite a football party and easily the crowning event of the year for the New Castle team.

Pile Up Points.

Massillon's fame has preceded it. So far this year 225 points have been hung up by the Paul Brown coached machine. Nothing under 40 points this year has satisfied his majesty, the mentor. They must play 50 points or no count in Ohio.

There is no getting around the fact that this Massillon team is in the vernacular "the berries". All of eastern Ohio will be watching the Massillon invasion of western Pennsylvania. Somehow the Ohio teams do not care for any part of a tough western Pennsylvania team.

Massillon Tigers do not fear to tread where other great Ohio teams have shied away. Meaning, of course, the beautiful side-stepping that Steubenville high's officials have done in recent years. Several years ago New Castle wanted to get Steubenville on the schedule.. The local men ran into the "sorry, filled up" sign.

Tickets Selling Fast.

From the standpoint of the spectators, the game here Friday night is a miniature Ohio State-Pitt game. Both teams are undefeated. Both teams have what amounts to national recognition. A victory will be coveted for either side.

Word from Massillon today is to the effect that the Ohioans are planning a special train. There will be 14 cars or more. The tickets for the game and the train are selling fast. Everybody seems to be making New Castle the mecca this week.

Will Bring Band.

Also that Massillon high is bringing its great 80-piece band here under the supervision of C. J. Morrison. New Castle's vaunted 75-piece band will be on hand to vie for musical honors while the gridders are out on the greensward seeking football glory.

Massillon will come to New Castle a top-heavy favoriet in the betting. Each team has won five straight games, but in doing so the Ohioans have the better record and have had an easier time in winning, and by awfully big scores too, so the bettors will take this into consideration. In fact Massillon strives to be a "point-a-minute" team.

Baseball Heads In Conference

Cubs, Pirates, Browns And White Sox Send Moguls To Chicago Session

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 13.—Bill Benswanger, president of the Pittsburgh Pirates baseball team, was attending a conference in Chicago today to discuss tieups for exhibition games next spring.

Four major clubs, two from each circuit, will be represented at the confab. Vice President John O. Seys, Traveling Secretary Robert C. Lewis and Charles F. Drake will act for the Cubs; Harry M. Grabiner, vice president and secretary of the Chicago Americans will represent his outfit; and L. C. McEvoy of St. Louis will represent the Browns.

Since the Cubs, Pirates and Whitesox do their spring training in California, exhibition plans for the teams will probably be mapped out and dates closed. The Browns, who condition in Texas, will probably hook up with any of the three outfits traveling through Texas.

"This conference is not being held for the purpose of making any deals, "said President Benswanger before he boarded his train. "Of course if I hear of an opportunity to improve the Pittsburgh club, either while Im in Chicago or any other time, my ears will not be closed."

Shenango Drills For Mercer High

East New Castle Gridders Hope To Register Season's First Triumph

Shenango high school's Blue and Gold clad eleven hopes to annex its first victory of the current season Friday afternoon, when the East New Castle machine opposes Mercer high, at Mercer.

So far the second book shows no victories for the Coach Nocera team. The Shenangoans are confident of registering their initial victory on Friday.

If you burn the home of an envied neighbor, it's a crime. But if thousands do it, it's a struggle for social reform.

Gray Wins From Liverpool Boxer

One Thousand Fans See Amateurs Battle In Arena Gardens

WARD WINS FROM BEAVER FALLS BOY

Amateur boxing made a successful debut here for the winter season, on Monday evening, at the Arena Gardens, Neshannock Avenue, where approximately 1,000 excited spectators cheered an all star cast of pugilists from the tri-state district, who took part in eight bouts which sent the customers away well pleased.

In the main bout, Ray Gray, South Side walloper, won the decision over Keith Goodballet, of East Liverpool, Ohio, a south paw. The bout was replete with action from start to finish. In the opening round, Goodballet caught Gray off balance with a pretty left that sent the local boy down. Gray came right back with a barrage of lefts and rights that had his opponent bewildered. Gray came out strong in the final stanzo, sending over a pretty right that shook Goodballet. From then on the fans saw plenty of gloves fly. Gray was awarded the decision. They boxed in the 155 pound class.

The semi-final bout brought together a pair of heavyweights, Jimmie Mayne of Beaver and Joe Sharff of Beaver Falls. Like the main go, this affair was featured by high powered punching on the part of both combatants. In the third, Sharff landed a hefty right which sent Mayne down for a count of nine. However, he came up and managed to last the remainder of the stanza. Sharff was awarded the decision amidst a thunder of applause.

What proved to be one of the best fights on the card was the sixth bout between Bus Mason, New Brighton, and George Ward, Chester, West Virginia, in the 155 pound class. Mason and Ward both hefty punchers, traded blows from start to finish and had the throng standing on its feet. In the second and third, Mason and Ward got in the center of the ring and staged a slugfest that had the crowd wild. Ward was given the nod.

The fifth bout was also packed with action as well as punches. After three rounds of fast milling, Johnny Darr, of Rochester, was awarded the decision over Sayer Graham, of Chester, West Virginia, a couple of 135 pounders.

A technical knockout was registered by Matt Andrews, Vanport, over George Bonci, of Ellwood City, in the fourth fracas. In the opening round, Andrews floored Bonci at the bell and continued his attack in the second with a series of lefts and rights that caused Referee Tom Mc Mahon to halt the bout. They are in the 150 pound class.

The third bout was one of the outstanding of the evening. Ted Blasak of Beaver Falls, won the decision over Al Sayer, of Chester, West Virginia, in the 140 pound class. Both boys put up a classy demonstration of hitting as well as boxing. This bout appealed to the fans immensely.

The second bout, between Cy Hawkins, of Ellwood City, and Young Jackson, of New Brighton, 136 pound class, was not lacking in thrills. Plenty of leather flew around. Jackson was given the decision. In the curtain opener, Jerry Rhodes, of Chester, West Virginia, outpointed Bus Mooney, of New Brighton, in the 120 pound class. As was said before, every bout pleased the large crowd. The eight bouts were three round affairs.

The opening of the amateur boxing season was a decided success from every standpoint, and was another feather in the hat of Eddie Fritz, matchmaker who promised a series of amateur shows for the winter months. Tom McMahon was referee; George Chip and Tommy Jones were judges. Mike Fazzone was timer and Carl Ginocchi handled the announcer's role.

Any fans having had reserved seats laid away are asked to get them before the store closes tonight.

Union Preps For Bessemer

Union High school football team is hard at work this week under the watchful eye of Head Coach Davey Boyd at the Union High arena. This coming Friday afternoon the Unions will be called upon to stack up against the powerful Bessemer High eleven.

Union fresh from its upset of the Mars High team, will be in there pitching for another victory this week over the Bessemerians. Coach J. K Fredericks of Bessemer says "We'll take the Union team in stride".

A Lion Pass That Failed

Kaspar (26) of Army is shown knocking down one of Columbia's long touchdown passes which would have helped the Lions total. The Cadets came through with Monk Meyer in the last quarter to outscore Columbia 27 to 16 after trailing the Lions. Army's forward passing attack was the most potent weapon in their hard-earned victory.

Mahoning Junior High Squad Is Progressing

With two objectives in mind—to win the 1936 New Castle Junior high title and make the New Castle varsity when they enter high school—a squad of young gridders, members of the Mahoningtown Junior high school, are diligently at work daily, either at an empty lot in the vicinity of their school or at the E. & A. grounds which is really a baseball diamond more than it is a grid field.

Despite the fact that they are minus a nice field with grandstand and other trimmings, the Seventh Ward young men can be seen daily either playing or talking about the game of pigskin. This Junior high school gang of footballers have the entire Mahoningtown section "football conscious".

Beat Washington

Throughout the summer months under the watchful eyes of "Blackie" Adamo, who assists Coach Austin Cowmeadow, the Seventh Ward boys made it their business to play a little football every day. The season rolled along and the date for the first game arrived. Mahoningtown Junior high versus George Washington. Of course, before the game, the Seventh Ward eleven was figured to come in second. The game ended with the Cowmeadow-Adamo combination on top 7-0, in a big surprise.

Last Saturday, Mahoningtown again entered the game with the Shenango Reserves as the underdogs. Once again the Seventh Ward Tigers spilled the bucket by tieing the East New Castle eleven, 0-0. Thursday afternoon, Mahoningtown is scheduled for a game with the Union high Reserves at Union field, at 3:30 o'clock. After this game, Mahoningtown will start drilling for its most important contest of the season, with Ben Franklin junior high, November 5, at Franklin stadium, for the Junior High championship of the city. And how these boys are after that title!

What makes this Mahoningtown team so powerful? In Ernest Adamo, the Seventh Warders boast a gridder who is a replica of his brother Blackie. Castrucci and Piccirillo, at tackles, should be good prospects at New Catsle high. They lack a little weight, but are good. Blackie Adamo stated. Nickum a fast open field runner. Charles Nickum, a former New Castle backfield man, is his brother. At fullback, Majocka and Dantonio have pleased the coaches.

Nuvolari Is Race Winner

Italian Driver Ends Vanderbilt Cup Race Away Out In Front

TWISTED TRACK PROVES DANGEROUS

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Out of the pages of a past which knew all along that the horse was here to stay, we revived the old Vanderbilt cup race for road drivers at Westbury yesterday, not neglecting, of course, to give it that vital 20th century twist. Twist? I mean corkscrew.

They simply wound up something utterly weird and fabulous, let it uncoil and, after 4:32:44.4, out came Tazio Nuvolari of Italy. He was, they said, the winner.

Twisted Track.

But if you want to make anything out of it, see them; not me. All I know is that it would have been simpler if they used the roller coaster at Coney Island and charged a dime a ride. Whoever laid out the course, and before many days I think I shall be able to exclusively announce that it was Dizzy Dean, made the race so tough that, oddly, it was no race at all.

In the same way, it is probable that if they gave Dempsey and Firpo a club in either hand, they would have had to throw them out of the ring for not trying.

Anyhow, it turned out that the only crazy people in the place were the reporters who said the drivers were crazy. With 45 cars on a track which had 16 turns wound around like a necklace, the principals might have been so many Sunday drivers giving the family a bit of convenient ozone. Only on the straightaway did they rush things, with the result that Nuvolari averaged just a shade under 66 miles per hour for the 300-mile distance. John Bannanas, the well known steam fitter, will do that going up the wrong side of the street almost any Sabbath morn.

Send Out Posse.

Nevertheless, the man won by so much that they had to send a posse to find the rest. Jean Wimille of France must have been 12 to 15 miles back in second place. Count Brivio of Italy was third; Raymond Sommer, France, was fourth, and Freddie McEvoy, Australia, fifth. Mauri Rose, Columbus, was the first American to show, finishing sixth.

Billy Winn, Detroit, might have been third, for he was there most of the afternoon. Later, he might have been fifth. Finally, he didn't finish at all, winding up with a broken rear end, five laps from home. Wild Bill Cummings, finishing seventh, also might have been fifth, but wound up with something, too. The Americans knew they had no chance before they started. They didn't have the cars for a slithering, sliding run like this.

CONDENSED

A six-week-old calf was nibbling at the grass in the yard, and was viewed in silence for some minutes by the city girl.

"Tell me," she said, turning impulsively to her hostess, "does it really pay you to keep as small a cow as that?"

Every evil tends to cure itself. When people hear too much gossip, it makes no more impression than remarks about the weather.

Former High Stars On College Teams

According to reports emanating from South Bend, Indiana, Fred and Alex Shellogg, New Castle's giant linemen, members of Elmer Layden's 1936 edition, will play in nearly every Notre Dame game this season.

To date, the former Ne-Ca-Hi products have seen considerable action. Last Saturday, the Shelloggs helped to annex a hard fought 14-6 Notre Dame triumph over a surprisingly strong University of Washington (St. Louis, Missouri) eleven. In two weeks, at Pittsburgh, should the Shelloggs and Walter Raskowski and Charles Fleming play in the Pitt-Notre Dame game, four former New Castle high players will be opposing each other.

Scanting over the list of former Coach Bridenbaugh players who are on college squads throughout the country, Walter Raskowski, Pitt guard, looms as the outstanding prospect. So far, Raskowski's work has pleased the genial Coach Sutherland. Raskowski has seen action in all of Pitt's triumphs this season. Walt's work against Ohio State, the short time he was in the game, was quite noticeable, several New Castle fans who were at the game reported. Charles Fleming, another Pitt candidate, also looks good, according to reports. From Pittsburgh comes the report that Raskowski is one of the fastest guards in Pitt land.

George Mike, East Long avenue, former rough and ready New Castle lineman, is gaining quite a reputation at West Virginia Wesleyan, where he is one of the outstanding men on this season's eleven. Mike tips the beams at 208.

"Blackie" Adamo, Seventh Warder, regarded as one of the best centers turned out at the local high school, is keeping in tip top shape by helping to coach Austin Cowmeadow's Mahoningtown Junior high school eleven. Adamo plans entering a prep school in January. Adamo is the type of a gridder who would please many coaches.

A pair of notable gridders whose names may blaze across the grid limelight next season are Walter Kominic and Mike DeCarbo. Kominic last season played fullback at Penn State and this season entered Akron, Ohio University. Mike DeCarbo, left Notre Dame and enrolled at Case, in Cleveland. Because of a school ruling, DeCarbo and Kominic are not eligible to play with the varsity.

Three other gridders, who played with New Castle in 1935, are also making good according to reports. Kaiser Tuscano, agile end, and Frank Crisci, lineman, are on the grid squad at Western Reserve. John Cabas is with Mount Union, Alliance, Ohio.

Looking over the list one can readily see that New Castle is furnishing plenty of grid material for colleges throughout the country.

Grimes Headed For Managers Job, Is Report

Brooklyn Dodgers May Sign Up Scrappy Pitcher For Stengel's Vacated Post

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Mike (Hippodrome) Jacobs and Jimmy (Madison Square Garden) Johnston are paving the way for the greatest importation of foreign fighters in history.

Eder and Seelig of Germany Lenglet of France, Barlund of Finland, Brescia of the Argentine are already here, and there is a fine assortment of Chileans, Portuguese, Spaniards and even a Cossack on the way. If this keeps up any fighter who speaks English will be viewed with suspicion.

Old Penn Grads are again after Harvey Harman's scalp...seems it's the same old fraternity politics trouble there....A world of foobtall material producing an acre of results...according to the ruthless hammer swingers....

Grimes Mentioned

Mike Jacobs is selling out with operas between fights at the Hipp ...and becoming musical..."Heard a swell new tune last night," said Mike, humming for our benefit The Sextet From Lucia!

The native Broadway birdies (vultures, if anybody should ask you), are whispering Burleigh Grimes has the inside track for that Dodger job....And National League umpires are praying against it.... Burleigh was kicked out of 20 games at Louisville last year....and the umps are wondering what he would do in a big league setting.

Refrigerators are streamlined, whether they are ice models or electric. Special food preservative features are claimed for all. Silence and economy of operation are salient features of the new electric models. White, with black trimming seems to be the most popular decorative scheme, although there is a wide variety of finishes from which the housewife may choose to suit her kitchen color scheme.

IN SPORTS' LAND HERE AND THERE

Lee Sheppard of Cleveland won the nod over Sammy Angott of Washington in a 10 round bout at Pittsburgh last night. It was their third meeting. Previously each had won a bout. Following the bout Joe Tuma, manager of Lee sped to this city to inquire about the amateur scraps here as most of the boys in the tri-state district were hoping for a boxing revival here. Judging from the enthusiasm displayed at Arena Garden boxing came back with a Biff plus a bang. The wrestlers will be here next Monday night. Peter Askounes having arranged four matches and he hopes the crowd will be as large as that which turned out for the amateur scraps last night.

Walter Knapp, 40, of Valley Bend, W. Va., former professional ball player, suffered severe injuries in an auto-truck collision near Elkins, W. Va., yesterday.

George Ward was matched with Buzz Mason last night when the writer, who made the matches, found in weighing the fighters that Mickie Rubin weighed 15 pounds more than Ward. The latter's manager had given Ward's weight at 175. He weighed 160. It proved an interesting battle.

Landon is a modest sort of fellow. He doesn't expect grass in city streets if he isn't elected.

Helens Of Tennis Fame Unfriendly

Helen Wills Moody And Helen Jacobs Refuse To Pose Together For Pictures

(International News Service)

BERKELEY, Cal., Oct. 13.—Any talk of Mrs. Helen Wills Moody and Helen Hull Jacobs being unfriendly tennis rivals went up in smoke today.

A newspaper photograph, taken following the meeting of the two Helens in the mixed doubles championships at the forty-seventh annual Pacific coast tennis tournament, shows them smiling genuinely at each other.

The picture was taken after Mrs. Moody and her partner, Donald Budge, defeated Miss Jacobs and Henry Culley, 5-7, 10-8, 6-4.

When photographers asked the two Helens to pose Sunday they refused. And they also avoided each other on the courts, passing the net on opposite sides of the baselines.

Kauffman Wins Mansfield Cup

Kauffman defeated Jim Calhoun, of North Park, by seven strokes for a total of 150 for the play. Kauffman won the same title last year.

Stocks Break Into Highest Ground Since 1931, With 1 To 3 Points Recorded

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service
Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Stocks soared one to more than three points today into new high ground since 1931 with the high speed ticker falling behind, with the three-power currency agreement an influence.

Large blocks of stock were turned over. Woolworth advanced 3½ points to a new peak for the year.

The forward sweep was paced by rails, metals, motors and steels.

Rails furnished nearly a half-score of issues at their best levels of the year, including Chesapeake & Ohio, N. Y. Central, Southern Pacific, Pennsylvania and Louisville & Nashville.

General Motors reached new high ground on a rise to 73, as did Studebaker on a fractional rise. Chrysler, though, held around its previous close.

Mail order shares were buoyant. Sears Roebuck jumped 3½ points and Montgomery Ward more than a point.

Other highs included American Telephone, up 1, General Electric Anaconda Copper, U. S. Steel and U. S. Rubber. Big steel and Bethlehem gained less than a point each.

Bonds were generaly improved. Grains and cotton worked toward somewhat higher levels.

GIVE HISTORY OF ELLWOOD CHURCH

gave them prosperity. Many of their descendants are still residents and members of the church, loyal, honest, godfearing, and industrious while others have gone out into the larger field of the world, enriching and blessing untold thousands, in America, and in countries afar. In the ministry, in medicine, in commerce and in senate, this old church is or has been represented. Who can measure the influence and blessing gone forth from this little Bethel? It is beyond estimate, but to be a decendant of a North Sewickley Baptist, is a badge of honor of which the best may be justly proud.

The first edifice, erected in 1801, was used till 1848, when it was destroyed by a storm. The next year, another frame building, which still stands was erected, and again remodelled in 1898. Money bequeathed by Brother Joseph McDanel making the remodelling possible. Two rooms were added, also a baptistry, previous baptisms having been administered in the Connoquenessing creek. New oak seats, to replace the old straightbacked ones and a hot air furnace at this time, were the gift of Sister Elzena Jackson. The belfry was a gift of Brother Ezra Hazen, the large bell a gift from Brother S. M. Hazen. The same year 1898, appropriate re-dedication services were held.

The beautiful stained glass windows, were gifts of the wives and children of those whose names they bear, in remembrance of loved ones, who from the church militant have joined the church triumphant, leaving a record of true, loyal and faithful service to God and home and church.

Other generations have come and gone. The railroad winds it's iron course through the valley at the foot of the hill, while at the north west, a cloud of smoke indicates where the city of Ellwood has arisen, with it's factories and thousands of busy workpeople. A city built on the land wrested from the wilderness. A transformation never dreamed of in the wildest imaginations of these early pioneers.

In the first century 24 pastors served the church, mostly for part time service engaging in farming as a side line. Amongst them the names of Spear, the first elder, Henry Frazier 10 years, Thomas Rigdon one year, Andrew Clark, Thomas Winters, Samuel McMillan, William Stone, Thomas Daniels, Dan Daniels, Jacob Morris, John Trivit, John Parker, Andrew Kirk, D. W. Hervey, W. B. Skinner, R. S. Godfry, J. W. Snider, H. H. Leamy L. S. Colman, H. C. Bond, W. H. McKinney, W. A. Groverand, J. H. Lowe, to whose anniversary centennial souvenir the writer is indebted for information.

At first the church grew very slowly owing to the sparsely populated district and great distances from which they came to worship.

In 1832 there were 62 members. In 1838 the membership had nearly doubled, 110 members being recorded. In 1890 the roll had reached 300, when the Ellwood City church was organized and more than one-third released to join the new church.

This was but a beginning to a stream that flowed out as a river to enrich new causes that had been organized. Truly this Providence church has exemplified the commission of Christ, sending laborers forth to the harvest, but what of the mother church? As a river whose tributaries have swelled and grown, until it's source has become insignificant, so the branch churches have grown in membership and importance, and so outgrown the mother church. Still she stands, and seeing the prosperity of Zion, she is happy that her influence has spread so wide and deep, and that the old historic church, is still vigorous and strong in her old age, shedding forth her light, sustained, blest and strengthened, by the power of Jehovah God.

It would be interesting to know the exact number of persons who in the 135 years of existence, this church has received into it's membership, but in places the records are incomplete and duplicated in others. It would be impossible to enumerate the names of all who unstintingly, and at much personal sacrifice, have in the long years served the church in various capacities, trustees, deacons, clerks, pianist, treasurers, etc., some for long periods at a stretch.

Since the Centennial Anniversary the church has had but four pastors, including the present pastor, Rev. M. E. Hare from 1904-07, Rev. E. R. Ruch 1907-11, Rev. L. J. Schumaker from 1911 until December 4, when he was called to his eternal reward. On March 2, 1925 the church called Rev. J. R. Routledge, a Canadian war veteran, from the Midway church, Washington county, still serving the church in his twelfth year.

In the first year of the present pastorate, the church was beautified inside, new paper, carpet, portieres, and painted outside, also the heater renovated. The cost was met by freewill offerings from the members and a donation from the women's society. The young people with extra donations from the congregation bought a new piano, which added greatly to the efficiency and beauty of the musical part of the service.

In the summer of 1925 the old tree under whose shelter the first band of christian pioneers, were organized into this first Baptist church called Providence, was blown down in a storm.

After the passing of Rev. Schumaker, owing to letters of dismissal to other churches, before the call of the present pastor, it was debatable, with such a depleted membership, whether it was expedient to keep open the church or to be able to support a pastor. But faith and prayer prevailed and God opened the way and since the present pastor has been settled, God has truly verified his promises to His people. Supplied all their needs as they have arisen. He has owned His preached word, and the faith and loyalty of His people.

The Sabbath school enrollment has more than trebbled, many have been baptized into fellowship, and many have gone out into other fields.

July 1930 the old parsonage, secured about 1858 was completely renovated, cleaned and painted inside, shingles put over the old woodwork outside. A porch added to the front. The work all done by willing workers in the membership. The cost met by freewill offerings. The pastor having lost half of his income from work he was doing, and which enabled him to accept the small salary the church was able to give, was unable to bear the expense of a rented home in Ellwood City, came to live in the parsonage, which now was made liveable. The surroundings more beautiful and healthful. The old church took on new life, our splendid young people and the women's organization especially doing splendid work while harmony and brotherhood existing make for joy in service. God is blessing the old church and giving encouragement to press forward. You have heard all about the new project in hand to add a basement addition. The young people with the sanction of the trustees have undertaken the work, and done much already and will continue to a finish. The extra room is badly needed, and will provide facilities for greater and more efficient service.

So we press forward in faith believing, and still depend upon the strength of God Jehovah, who has said, "Not by might, nor by power, but by My spirit," saith the Lord of Hosts.

With gratitude to God for all His love and leading through all these years, for grace and blessing in the past and trust and confidence in Him for the future, the church presses on in faith and service for her Lord and Master.

"Lord God of hosts be with us yet, Lest we forget, lest we forget".
